The allegation that the Republicans are raising a huge slush fund may constitute a grave charge, but it is difficult to surmise that any candidate would turn a fund down!

TEXAS COURT IS FIRST TO ADOPT OFFICE RIGHTS

Last Vestige of Ancient Bar To Women in Political Field Down

MA IS VICTORIOUS

High Court Upholds Woman And Denies Right to Bring Action

(By the Associated Press)

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Oct. 19—The last vestige of the ancient bar against women in office was swept away by the Texas supreme court today in holding Mrs. Mariam A. Ferguson of Temple and all other women in the state eligible to elective positions.

Attempts to bring out ofthe dim past and establish as present day lay the figments of an old order were cast out by the highest court of the state which pronounces women as independent entities on an equality with men.

While holding that Mrs. Ferguson is qualified to hold office the court held also unconstitutional that part of the statute which sought to confer on a private citizen the right to bring a suit testing the qualifications of a candidate for governor. This right belongs to the legislature the court said.

The decision is regarded as a complete and final decision not only for Mrs. Ferguson, not only of women of Texas, but women throughout the land and it was one of the first cases to direct by test effect of the suffrage amendment.

The suffrage amendments to the federal constitution and state constitution were interpreted as giving women not only the right to vote but also the right to hold office. To hold the contrary would be to create a rule out of accord with customs of the times and morals of the people, the court held.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 18.—An injunction to prohibit the name of Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, Democratic candidate for governor of Texas from going one the ballot was denied by the supreme court today. The court also held that Mrs. Ferguson was qualified in every respect to hold office if elected.

The question before the supreme court was from the third court of civil appeals. The higher court held that Charles M. Dickson of San Antonio, the plaintiff seeking the injunction was not authorized by the statute to bring the suit and also that the district court was with out jurisdiction.

All of the objections urged by plaintiff that Mrs. Ferguson was not qualified to hold office of governor, the higher court ruled in her favor.

The decision covered 33 pages and was given out before noon.

CITY AUDIT CONTINUES THRU SUMMER MONTHS

The extended audit of the city books, which started in the heat of summer, continues as fall weather settled down over the city, lengthening its scope throughout three months.

A report from the office of Mayor Jones Saturday afternoon indicated that the accountants were still bogged up in the mire of water receipts, which have proved a snag to the windup of the audit for the past few weeks.

Reports have been issued for the past month to the effect that the audit would be completed the next week but the succeeding weeks have found the same report in store, new complications arising over further check on the city affairs.

The audit was started July 21 and has been continued without interval since that time.

COTTON GINNING HITS HIGH MARK

Estimated Fifteen Thousand Bales Ginned in County Up to Date.

Cotton ginnings in Pontotoc county for the season are close around the 15,000 mark, according to the best available information Saturday.

At four o'clock Saturday afternoon the Ada gins had turned out 5,006, counting round bales as halves and Francis 293. Up to Friday night Roff had turned out 1,991, Allen 2,210, Vanoss 650, Stonewall 2,489, Frisco 753, Bebee 299. The exact figures for Maxwell and Fitzhugh could not be obtained, but the first named had 373 a week ago and the latter 195, hence it is safe to place the Maxwell figures at 450 and those for Fitzhugh 300. That would give a total of 14,432 not counting the cotton that is in storage at the various gins. Last week's report was 11,785 bales.

John Ward, county weigher, reported receipts of 5,162 bales and 446 bales of association cotton had been turned in. These with 350 round bales which counted as halves would equal 175 square bales, gives a grand total of 5,783.

The market of Saturday was little changed. Buyers reported that most of it sold at from 22 to 22.25

CROMWELL DUE TO GENERAL CEANUP

Federal Agents to Stage Part In Cleaning up Oil Town

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 18—The federal government took a hand in the cleanup of Cromwell, the Seminole County oil town, today when a federal prohibition enforcement officer dispatched an operative from his department to the town with instructions to aid the clean-up of alleged vice conditions there. Federal narcotic agents are expected to take part in the vice crusade.

Mrs. Mabel Bassett, state commissioner of charities and corrections, in making a report to Governor Trapp today on conditions in the oil town, said:

"They were worse than Tia Juana Mexico," and declared that law enforcement is lax there. Governor Trapp said he would keep a state secret service man there in an effort to enforce the law. Operatives have been stationed there since June, he said. Beyond this the executive said he could not go in remedying the situation. He declared it was up to the self respecting citizens of Cromwell to take steps toward cleaning up their town.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 18—Mrs Mabel Bassett, state commissioner of charities and corrections today was to make a request for a state campaign against alleged lack of law enforcement in Cromwell and surrounding oil towns before Governor M. E. Trapp.

Mrs. Bassett returned yesterday from Cromwell where she investigated reports that young girls were being recruited in Tulsa, Oklahoma City and Kansas for dance hall work in the oil fields under the representation that they were to be prepared for stage careers.

Representatives of the attorney general's office and helath department were expected at attend the conference between Mrs. Bassett and the governor.

GIRL MOTHER FREED OF CHARGE OF MURDER

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18—Violet Dickerson, 19 year old mother, was today acquitted of the charge of murder in the hold up and killing of Louis Hirsch an aged store keeper, last November. Charles Oessinger, her companion on the night of the tradgedy was convicted in September of first degree murder and sentenced to death for the killing.

The girl's case was taken to a jury late yesterday and when no verdict had been reached at 9 o'clock Judge McDevitt had the jury locked up for the night. He said he took this action so early in the night out of consideration for the girl and her four months old baby. Miss Dickerson took the witness stand at the close of her trial and declared that for 12 days prior to the fatal shooting she had been under complete domination mentally and physically of Oessinger. It was Oessinger, who fired the shot after coercing her into accompanyin him to Hirsch's store. In the 12 days they had occupied a room together she testified she was beaten by him, threatened with death and exposure of her approaching motherhood if she did not stand by him.

Hirsch was shot last November when he resisted an attempt of Oessinger and Miss Dickerson to rob him. Oessinger was arrested immediately after the shooting but the girl escaped and was captured later at Brooklawn near Camden, N. J. Both admitted the hold up but each accused the other of firing the fatal shot.

Suicidal War Seen by Winner of Nobel Prize at Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18—With the nations' equipment of destructive forces steadily augmented by new and more deadly discoveries the march of civilization moves toward annihilation, Dr. Robert A. Millikan, Noble prize winner and international authority on the mechanics of the atom, told the Los Angeles sector of the army of the United States at a banquet last night.

Referring to the warning recently uttered by Winston Churchill, English statesman, that the advance in death dealing efficiency by the world's military establishments is gradually preparing civilization for a suicidal war, Dr. Millikan said that "in the main as a scientist I agree that he is right."

HIGHT IS GRANTED DELAY IN TRIAL

Partner in Love Slaying Pact Wants Separate Hearing.

(By the Associated Press)

MT. VERNON, Ill., Oct. 18.—Filing an affidavit in which she charges Lawrence M. Hight, former Ina Clergyman, with whom she was jointly indicted for the murder of her husband, Wilford Sweetin, and the Rev. Hight's wife, Anna Hight, was a "willing tool" of the prosecution, Mrs. Elsie Sweetin today began her fight for a separate trial. Motions to quash the joint murder indictment against Hight and Mrs. Sweetin were overruled today by Circuit Judge G. C. Kern. Mrs. Sweetin pleaded not guilty. The formal arraignment for Hight was postponed until next Wednesday.

When the two defendants were brought into court for arraignment Nelson M. Layman, attorney for Hight, asked that the formal arraignment be postponed because he had been retained as counsel only the day before and had had no opportunity to familiarize himself with the case. Judge Kern granted the continuation of argument on the motion to quash until today.

The court room was crowded to its capacity when the two defendants were brought to face one another for the first time since September 24, last, the day on which Mrs. Sweetin confessed her part of the alleged poison plot after spending several hours in a cell with the former clergyman and yielded to his pleas to confess that she had administered the poison to her husband.

Mrs. Sweetin is a prisoner in the county jail at Salem owing to the fact that the local jail had no quarters for women prisoners.

Two Score Nimrods Flee to River

Who cares about business when the fish are still playful down on Blue?

That's what two score of Ada's most faithful nimrods opined when they deserted business, wives and Saturday to get back to nature and the fish.

So determined were these nimrods to have fish for greakfast they sent down an expert of the line to bring in a tubfull before the army arrived on the scene, an old camp ground below Connerville.

Approximately 40 men are on the trip, which is reputed to be the largest concerted campaign against the fish of this section of the state.

The list of nimrods include the officials of the Pilgrim Petroleum company and the Texas and Pacific company of Wynnewood.

A number of the party motored down Friday as the vanguard of the invasion but a large number left Saturday afternoon.

Kiwanians Plan to Visit Telephone Office on Monday

The telephone girls and the tired business men will sign an armistice Monday noon when members of the club pay the local Southwestern Bell Telephone offices a visit upon the invitation of Kiwanian E. H. Steanson, who is manager of the local offices.

Kiwanians will dispense of the regular luncheon meeting in short order and journey to the telephone office to learn just why they can't get central on certain occasions.

Kiwanian Stanson promises to convince members of the civic organization that there is a reason for several little misunderstandings about the telephone and states his intention of causing regret for those who have heaped tirades of abuse on the innocent telephones.

Largest Photograph in World is Shown at Oklahoma City

A photograph of the city of San Francisco, 36 feet long, 3 feet and 4 inches in height was shown at Oklahoma City during the Southwestern professional Photographers convention, according to a statement by N. B. Stall, who attended.

The photograph, the largest in the world, is valued at hundreds of dollars and is a part of the international exhibit which was shown in its entirety at Oklahoma City. While the attendance was somewhat disappointing, the convention had the finest demonstration in lighting, posing and drapery effect ever shown, Mr. Stall said.

The prevailing tones of all exhibits was pearl gray, Ivory, and Mezzigraphs, Mr. Stall stated.

STRATFORD, Oct. 18.—(Special)—Stratford expects to gin and market something in excess of 6,000 bales of cotton this season. Already almost 4,000 bales have been ginned and the farmers are paying off their indebtedness.

Stratford's normal cotton crop is between 5,000 and 6,000 bales, according to those who have been keeping up with the production in recent years, though in 1920 it went to 10,000 bales.

The price of the staple combined with the crop is easing up financial conditions, permitting farmers and business men to wipe out their obligations which have been carried from year to year since 1920.

Claims of Slush Fund

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—The senate investigating committee was told today by Frank P. Walsh, counsel for Senator LaFollette, independent candidate for president, that "a lead" had been developed indicating that a Republican "slush fund" of 10 to 12 million dollars is to be raised for use in this campaign.

TEN MILLION FOR REPUBLICAN FUND LAFOLLETTE SAYS

Walsh Claims to Have Lead Showing "Slush Fund" for Republican Ranks

FROM THREE SOURCES

Claims Food for Investigators In Funds Being Accumulated By G. O. P.

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 18.—Leads which will take the special senate investigating committee into a thorough going investigation of charges of Senator Robert M. LaFollette that a "huge slush fund" is being raised for the support of the Coolidge-Dawes ticket were presented today to that body by Frank P. Walsh of Kansas City, counsel for the independent presidential candidate.

In submitting a batch of correspondence and other data upon which the charges are based, at least in part, Mr. Walsh said he would undertake to show that three funds were being collected in the United States; one by the national committee, the regular fund; one fund created by the bankers of the United States and taken care of by them; and the other by manufacturers and business men.

Walsh also told the committee that Senator LaFollette had told him over long distance telephone that he had "underestimated the amount of this 'slush fund' that was being raised to carry this election when he said that it would be four million or five million dollars."

Ten Million Fund Claimed

"From the investigation which we have attempted to make, a very hasty one," LaFollette's counsel added, "we think we have leads which we will present to the committee here to show that ten million dollars is not too great an estimate and that it is very likely to reach twelve million dollars."

To support the conclusion that three separate funds are being raised, Walsh presented letters signed by George W. Simmons, vice president of the Mechanic and Metals National Bank of New York City, appealing to other bankers, irrespective of party, to contribute to the fund to help the Republican national ticket. He also introduced into the evidence a letter of similar import signed by members of the manufactures club of Philadelphia.

"Senator LaFollette has been advised," Walsh said in this connection, "that at a meeting of the national bankers convention in Chicago a few days ago a speech was made, requesting that all trust companies be requested to give one-twentieth of one percent of their capital as a contribution to fight LaFollette in the west, Edward T. Stotesberry was made chairman of the committee to collect the money."

He declared that the full extent to which money for the aid of the Republican ticket is being raised could be ascertained only by a rigid cross examination of those he believes are interested in the movement and Walsh asked that Chairman James W. Gerard, treasurer of the National Democratic committee, be examined, regarding campaign contributions and expenditures by the National Democratic organization.

Senator Borah also announced that he would call Samuel Gompers, Frank Morrison and possibly other officials of the American Federation of Labor tor questioning as to their expenditures in behalf of the LaFollette-Wheeler campaign.

Ford's Letter to Coolidge is Made Public Saturday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—A letter from Henry Ford to President Coolidge withdrawing his offer for Muscle Shoals was made public today at the White House.

In reply President Coolidge wrote Mr. Ford that he trusted "that should congress conclude to restore this property to private ownership you will at that time renew your interest in the project."

Mr. Ford wrote that "Inasmuch as so much time has already elapsed, we are unable to wait and delay what plans we have any longer upon the action of congress and I am consequently asking that you consider this as a withdrawal of said offer."

BRONCOS STAMPEDE AND BEAT TIGERS

Central Teachers Continue Stride of Victory Over Ada Squad

EDMOND, Oct. 17.—(Special)—After defeating representative teams of the Missouri valley and southwest conferences in early contests, Central college got away to a flying start in its race for the Oklahoma intercollegiate conference championship by defeating East Central of Ada, 44 to 0, here Friday.

Twenty-five men were used by Central against the Ada team. The Bronchos made six touchdowns in addition to twenty-three first downs from scrimmage. East Central netted four first downs by the forward pass mehod. It could not gain at all against the Central forwards. The Bronchos carried the ball from scrimmage by straight football, a distance of 324 yards. The Ada backs were able to gain only forty-eight yards by this method.

In the passing game, Central attempted fifteen, and completed seven for a total gain of 117 yards. Ada attempted fourteen and completed eight for a total yardage off seventy one. Two were intercepted. Central was penalized four times for a total of thirty yards. Ada was penalized twice for ten yards

Scoring Starts Early

The scoring began in the first quarter when Central took the ball after an exchange of punts on her own thirty-yard line, and carried it down the field on straight football, for the first counter. The quarter ended: Central 6, East Central 0.

Early in the second quarter Central worked the ball down into Ada territory. A pass Williamson to Bailey netted 18 yards for a touchdown. Williamson kicked goal, near the close of this session Ada opened up their spread out passing game and made first down twice in a row, the half closed: Central 13; Ada 0.

Williamson Carries Ball Over

At the beginning of the third quarter Wantland sent his original lineup back into the fray. Vannoy skirted the Ada line for a gain of thirteen yards. Williamson then went through the Ada line on a shift play and raced forty yards for the third touchdown. He also kicked goal. Soon after this, Central blocked a Tiger kick on the Ada eighteen yard line, a pass Williamson to Braymer went over for the fourth touchdown. Williamson kicked goal, the third quarter ending: Central 27, Ada 0.

In the last session a pass, Williamson to Borum netted thirty yards and placed the ball on the Ada 8-yard line. Williamson skirted left end for a touchdown and kicked goal.

Few minutes later Vannoy tore off an end that placed the ball under the Ada goal. Williamson passed to Borum and then kicked goal.

Just before the close of the game, Weaver at fullback for Central, put over a place kick from the 35-yard line, the game closed, Central 44, Ada 0.

The Ada players were game and fought all the way through the contest but were outmatched. The main part of the Ada defense fell upon King and Capps in the line.

FRANK POTTS IS BOOMER CAPTAIN

Freshman String on Grid Under Leadership of Former Ada Star

NORMAN, Oct. 18.—Frank Potts, Ada high school all-state halfback, was elected captain of the Boomer football contingent at the practice field Wednesday afternoon. Potts received 36 votes in the final ballot of the election. Mort Brown, Ardmore, was his nearest opponent receiving 18 votes. Ray LeCrone, Bristow was third with 14 votes.

Potts is considered one of the best finds for future Varsity material that has donned freshman moleskins for several years. He is expected to step in and fill a vacant place on the backfield next year caused by the graduation of Bristow and Hendricks from the squad.

Pott's Work Impressive.

Pott's work on the freshman squad this year has been impressive from the start. Weighing 190 pounds, rugged and versatile in punting, passing piercing the line and keeping the Varsity from advancing into freshman line he has proved to be perhaps the most promising material for Sooner football.

The newly elected captain has placed on two all-state football elevens. Last year he won a place on the all-tate Central Collegiate conference team and two years ago he was named on the all-state high school eleven.

Besides being a star football player he has a reputation already in the university as a trackman. Last year he set an all-university record in the pole vault when he cleared the bar at 12 feet, 1 1-2 inches.

ADA DOWNS SULPHUR IN GREAT GRIDIRON BATTLE HERE; TEAM FACING BRUNT OF SCHEDULE

Ada high school's football stock soared to the preferred rating Friday afternoon when the strong team from Sulphur fell to the onslaught of bewildering attack of Coach C. Raymond Cox's aggregation.

The final score of 20 to 6 for the latest Ada victory spelled the defeat of one of the snappiest teams seen in action on the local gridiron and related a tale of superior gridiron tactics buoyed up by sheer courage and determination seldom seen on the gridiron.

The flashy attacks of the Ada backs behind the impenetrable support of a fighting line made possible one of the hardest-earned victories enjoyed by the local squad this year and proved conclusively to Ada fans that their team would prove diligent gridiron entertainers for the Shawnee and McAlester games to follow this season.

While the individual performances of Burkhart, Baker, Clark and Johnson were outstanding, the other members of the squad shared an equal portion of praise in the final accounting for the game.

Cox's line was undoubtedly superior to the front wall of the invading team regardless of weight or experience. His linemen bared their shoulders to the task and saved the backs their strength from tackling. Shoe-string tackling on the part of the Ada line saved many possible gains and prevented the invaders from rallying for a dangerous offense. The line also came in strong in interference, which was a saving feature against the fleet backs of the Sulphur team. Sulphur tacklers were repeatedly chopped down by Ada players, who protected runners at various intervals.

Despite a noticeable weakness on the passing end, Ada forwards managed to grapple several offerings from their backs for needed gains. The deficiency in the passing machine is distnctly on the artillery side and not from the receiving angle. In Johnson and Clark Cox has two ends who are certain for gains from the aerial attack if their range can be found. The deficiency in passing was retaliated in the intercepting of passes by Ada backs and ends, one of the touchdowns coming from that source.

The Ada team was never out of danger from the offense of the visiting squad. Even at the period of the game when the score marked Ada with a 20-0 margin, Sulphur came back for revenge and plowed up the field for their only touchdown and the remainder of the game was equally divided in the offense and defense angles of play.

First Quarter.

Rayburn for Ada kicked over the Sulphur goal line and ball was brought back into play to Sulphur's 20-yard line. Nevins plunged line for yard and a half. Blair ripped line for 35 yards, for downs. Brodbent lost 2 yards. Blair hit the line for 18 yards and downs. Shafner through the line for 8 yards. Nevins plowed the line for 8 yards, for downs. Blair on a fake lost 2 yards. # SEMINOLE VICTORIOUS OVER WETUMKA SQUAD

SEMINOLE, Oct. 18.—(Special)—Never crossing their opponents' ten-yard line, the Wetumka High school eleven, coached by Harold Strohm, fell to defeat at the hands of Jimmy McCoy's fast organization to the tune of 47-0, Friday afternoon, at Seminole.

Having old "Man Luck" with them, the Seminole back field punched their opponents line at random while Gilliland, star Seminole quarterback ran 80 yards for a touch down. End runs worked well for Seminole and gains of 20 and 20 yards were common.

Seminole's 140 pound line played real football and showed the true fighting spirit.

The Seminole eleven clashes with Stroud next week at Seminole and although, the home team lost to them in the season of twenty-three, Coach McCoy has high hopes of duplicating this Friday's score.

COALGATE WINNER OVER MAUD TEAM

Coal County Lads Take Long End of Score Against Fast Aggregation.

COALGATE, Oct. 17.—(Special.)—By using a varied attack, and excelling in the use of the forward pass and end runs, the Coalgate high school defeated the Maud high school here this afternoon 24 to 7. The visitors lone touchdown came in the fourth period by way of a fake place kick.

Though greatly out-weighed, and lacking in strength to stop the visitors plunging backs in the first minutes of play the local lads carried and passed the ball when finally in their possession for a touchdown before the first quarter was half gone. From that time on the ball was in Coalgate's possession the greater part of the game.

The visitors' reputed forward passing ability did not threaten seriously at any time, for the Coalgate defense succeeded in intercepting and returning the ball for considerable yardage at critical moments. Phillips of Coalgate made a creditable showing on punts, averaging thirty-five yards and Maud was never able to return for more than a few yards.

Charles Gonzallis, of Coalgate, the 125-pound Mexican halfback was easily the star of the game with his spectacular broken field running and accurate passing. Russell, right guard for the locals, repeatedly tackled behind the line, and played a stellar game though suffering from a broken thumb. Jackman, speedy end, received a majority of the passes and contributed thereby to two of the touchdowns.

This is the fourth victory for the home team, and with the exception of October 24, which is an open date at this time the schedule is filled with games with representative teams in eastern Oklahoma.

Coalgate suffered the only defeat of their season last week at Antlers, when Antlers scored 16 points against Coalgate the first half as against Coalgate's 12 in the last half.

Coalgate would like to play away from home next Friday and up to this time have not been able to match a game.

District teams desiring to go to the mat with the Coalgate team on their own field have been urged by Coach Roy Curtis to get in touch with him.

line. Brians 1 yard through line. Montin smalsed line for 2 yards. Baker failed round end. Ball went over. Sulphur's ball on 45 yard line Blair lost 1 yard and also failed to pass to Crottle. Blair again failed to pass. Ada's ball on 45-yard line and Burkhart could not gain through line. Baker failed round end, Sulphur called time out, for Peak. Burkhart failed to gain on end. Baker punted to Blair who failed to return. Blair lost 2 yards. Ury passed to Blair and Burkhart intercepted. Ada's ball on 45-yard line. Montin failed through line. Burkhart tear round line for 14 yards. Sulphur penalized 5 yards off side. Burkhart goes round end for 2 yard and Brian also gained 2. Baker failed to round end end Ury intercepted a pass from Baker to Johnson. Sulphur's ball on 30 yard line. Brians intercepts a pass from Blair to Ury. Ada's ball on 30 yard line. Burkhart lost 2 yards and Brian passed to Baker for 20 yards. Sulphur called time out for Moore. Burkhart lost 10 yards on a fumble. Clark rounded end for 8 yards. Score 20-6.

Holdenville Proves Easy Victors Over Gridsters From Roff

HOLDENVILLE, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Holdenville's high school football team tramped to an easy victory over Roff Friday afternoon at Holdenville with 24 men being used in the lineup for the local team. The final score stood 53 to 0 for Holdenville.

At no time during the game was the Holdenville goal line in danger of invasion from the Roff squad, the locals keeping the ball continually in the Roff territory.

The Holdenville team will journey to McAlester next Friday for a game with McAlester.

Taloga—Dewey county putting in 1925 crop of wheat.

McCloud—Seventy-three bales of cotton shipped from district to date.

SOONER POLOISTS TO PLAY SULPHUR

Squad Picked From Thirty-eight Candidates at University

NORMAN, Oct. 10.—(Special)—Sooner poloists will go into action for the first time this season when the University of Oklahoma four meets the civilian team at Sulphur, October 25, according to Major Cuyler L. Clark, commandant of the local R. O. T. C. unit who is sponser of the sport here.

TRANSVAAL GOLD FIELDS INCREASING PRODUCTION

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON—A large increase in the gold production of the Transvaal is interesting several English companies, who are organizing prospecting expeditions into the little explored regions of the district. The reports of the advance agents of the companies indicate that the gold producing areas of the Transvaal are by no means limited to the sections now being exploited, but really extend far into the interior, and it is probable that gold may be found in the waste lands to the north. The companies are sending engineers to South Africa immediately with orders to make investigations.

The total output of gold for the Transvaal for July amounted to 829,437 fine ounces, the largest ever produced, and it is only the second time in the history of Transvaal gold mining that the monthly production has been more than 800,000 ounces. The value of the output for July was £3,867,250.

The value of the gold produced for the first six months of the present year was £22,500,000, a record.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

BUT THOU, WHEN THOU PRAYEST, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly. For your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask Him.—Matt. 6:6, 8.

The devastation and poverty caused by the world war was not confined to the poorer classes alone. The nobility and royalty itself suffered. One outstanding figure in this class is the former Empress Zita of Austria. Her brave struggle has attracted the admiration of the world. A year or two after her husband was driven from the throne he died, leaving her with seven children and no money with which to care for them. Since then she has lived with her children in a secluded spot in Spain in the midst of abject poverty. It has been a hard matter to find food and clothing for her little ones but she fought hard and they are still together. It is now reported that she is considering an offer of a good contract from a moving picture concern in the United States. As she is a very gifted woman and has an attractive personality, she would doubtless succeed. To fall from one of the oldest thrones in Europe with its wealth and splendor to a position where she scarcely knows where her next meal is coming from is some tragedy and if she succeeds in rearing and educating her children through her own efforts the world will applaud.

The biggest dud fired from campaign artillery was the charge by the Republican leaders that a conspiracy had been formed between the Davis and La Follette forces to throw the election of president into congress. While there was nothing to the charge, such a procedure would have been entirely legitimate. Back in 1892 the Democrats in many states were advised to cast their votes for the Populist electors in order to beat Harrison and they did so with the result that Weaver carried several states and received 22 electoral votes. Every state he carried would have gone to the Republicans otherwise. In the present case every normally Republican state the Democrats can keep out of the Coolidge column, even though such a state should go to La Follette, is that much taken away from Coolidge and Dawes. It would be much better for Davis that La Follette got the vote than Coolidge since he cannot be elected and Coolidge might be.

—o—

Republican leaders are said to be somewhat worried over the situation created by the death of Congressman Mudd of Maryland. The Maryland delegation was evenly divided but if the Democrats should elect a man to fill out Mudd's unexpired term they would have a majority. In case the election of president went to the house the Democrats and Republicans would then have an equal number of states at their command with some others equally divided. Since some of the delegations listed as Republicans are controlled by La Follette the balance of power would really be in his hands.

The News welcomes the singers of the county assembled here today in semi-annual convention. Singers are usually the leaders of their communities and as a rule their influence is exerted in the right direction. Music is a powerful influence in promoting harmony and the world cannot have too much of it. The singers of Pontotoc county have worked hard for all these years and there are some fine voices in the large number embraced by this organization. Ada is honored by having them here and The News hopes to see a large attendance of citizens at the sessions of today.

—o—

The man who said the did not like his neighbor because he did not know him expressed a great truth. When we know a person well we can overlook some of his faults and admire his good qualities. It is quite different from judging by outside appearances. It should be remembered that many who do not take well on first acquaintance are the most lasting of all when one has a chance to see and understand their real nature.

—o—

The Dearborn Independent, Henry Ford's paper, is producing some hard, cold facts about the effect of tobacco on the human brain and the impossibility of the excessive user of the weed, especially in the form of cigarettes, to keep pace with the man who does not use it at all. For that matter the Bible long ago pointed out the fate that awaits the wicked but the world has not by any means broken away from its practice of evil.

—o—

An exchange observes that a large part of the chaos that candidates are predicting to strike the country in case they are not elected in November will exist only among the defeated candidates who will be faced with the necessity of going to work.

—o—

The man who basks in popularity today stands fair to be in the shadows of oblivion at any time. The world is not only fickle but in course of time it recognizes even the smoothest of crooks for what he really is.

THE SOWER.

The parable is one of the most effective methods of teaching and we find that Christ used it frequently to drive home the truths to his hearers. They could understand his illustrations and apply them when it would have been hard for them to comprehend a plainly spoken statement. Furthermore, it is human nature to like to hear stories. These draw and hold the interest of hearers as few other things do and public speakers of today use them frequently in presenting the things they wish to be understood.

Jesus was approaching the high mark of his ministry. Multitudes pressed about him and we find him so closely pressed that to make himself heard he took his seat in a fishing boat on the shores of the Sea of Galilee and pushing a little way from land he gave his hearers some of his profoundest lessons.

The parable of the sower was one of these. He was talking to an agricultural people. They could readily understand when he mentioned anything that had to do with farming. He represented his mission as a sower who went out into his field to sow his crop of grain. He pictured the grain as falling in four kinds of soil, where the ground was too hard for it to grow, where the soil was thin and underlaid with a stratum of rocks, among the weeds and thorns and in good ground. Each kind of soil represented a type of the human race.

The hard ground represents a type that is very numerous. It is nothing unusual to find men who scoff at the Bible and at Christ's teachings. They simply cannot be reached through any process of reasoning and die as they lived, unbelievers. The word is wasted with them.

Then the parable turns to the the thin soil underlaid with stone. The grain that falls there springs up quickly on account of the warmth of the thin soil and stone underneath. It looks highly promising for a few days and then because of lack of depth for its roots to grow and absorb the ingredients needed for the plant, it withers under the hot sun. This type is also common. We see many men every day who are so highly emotional and so unstable that they are swayed by everything they hear or read. When a revival meeting opens they are the first to respond and they start out on a Christian life in a most promising manner. However, as soon as the emotions that stirred them pass away they drift back into their old manner of life and the word has also been lost with them.

Next, some of the seed falls among thorns and thistles. It has no chance here because of its environment. The hardier vegetation soon chokes it out and it, too, is lost. This condition represents the man who cannot tear himself loose from his surroundings. He permits outside interests to crowd out his good intentions and cannot bring himself to give himself unreservedly to the service he knows he rightfully owes his Master. Here again the word is lost.

Finally most of the seed falls in good ground and the harvest later causes great rejoicing to the sower. Of course the application is plain. This represents the one who not only receives the word but cherishes it and applies it in his everyday life. This one represents the triumph of the word.

In this connection it will be noted that seed fell on all four kinds of ground at the same time. So far as the sower was concerned, all had an equal opportunity, but the result was far different in the end. Each man has the responsibility of shaping his own destiny and of accepting or rejecting the word. Salvation is offered to all alike and whether he accepts or rejects it is a matter for the individual to determine for himself. Jesus preached to thousands but many went away in unblief and the same condition has prevailed ever since. "Whosoever will" is the great central truth of his teachings.

—o—

In this campaign, under the admistration of silence and and in this era of sphinxes, the only cabinet member who has had the courage to speak and approach the truth was Wilbur. He did not get very far, but certainly further than any others. Under the method of censorship employed by the Republican nominee against members of his cabinet, he was summarily brought back to Washington and securely muzzled. They have not yet permitted him to even explain the speech that was never delivered. It has come to a pretty pass in this country that, in this day of heavy taxes and crystalized public opinion for peace, when a cabinet head chooses to speak in this campaign in praise of a plan that is preventing wars and promoting peace, he should be condemned and politically castigated.—Pat Harrison.

—o—

Secretary Mellon of the treasury department supposedly disposed of his stock in various corporations before assuming his present duties, but he had made a snug little fortune of some millions, largely through the operation of the tariff. Now comes the latest Republican tariff measure, passed in the early days of the Harding administration and trebles the duty on aluminum, both in pig form and in manufactured product, and Mr. Mellon's former associates are reaping a harvest since they can now raise the price in everything in that line. The tariff amounts to as much as the first cost of the metal.

—o—

Consider the state of the bluffer; today he struts as a turkey gobbler and most men give him a clear road. However, ere long some insignificant guy who is the real article calls the bluff and then where is the man who was but yesterday the whole show? Even echo does not waste an effort by trying to answer "where."

—o—

For a number of years England has sought to produce enough cotton in her own domain to make her independent of the United States. She spent a lot of money in Egypt and other dependencies experimenting but has not yet made any great success of the crop, even with the cheap labor of those places. In time she may realize her ambition but for the present must look to America for raw material for her factories.

—o—

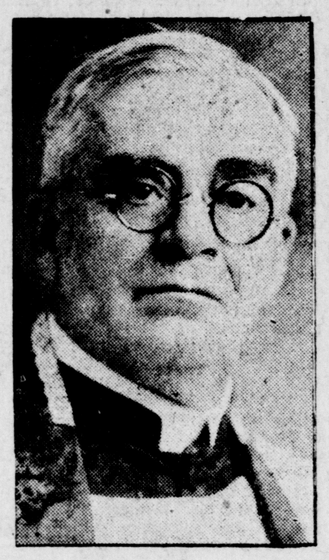

It is reported that only about one-third of the world war veterans have thus far applied for their insurance policies under the terms of the bonus law enacted by the last session of congress. Evidently the majority do not care a great deal about the bonus or their applications would be in.

COMMUNION WITH DEAD POSSIBLE

Rev. Carden Tells Listeners Spiritual Development Is Medium

"Communication with the dead is not impossible, and it will probably become possible at some future time when mankind has reached a high stage of spiritual development," was the startling statement of Rev. Carden last night in closing his sermon. He does not think, however, that any such intercourse with the dead has yet been established and characterized as futile and puerile the messages which mediums and charlatans at present claim to get. "There's too much fraud in spiritualism for it to be honest."

The Missioner's remarks on the life after the grave were comforting as well as highly instructive. He declared his firm belief in a progressive life after death and referred to St. Paul's statement that a certain man was caught up into the third heaven. From the parable of the rich man and Lazarus he showed that those who have died are able to recognize each other, which is a blessed assurance, and that the rich man was not wholly bad because he loved his brothers and was grieved at their behaviour.

In speaking of judgment after death Rev. Carden demanded that he be told what punishment God could have in store or invent for murderers and liars if He condemned those who indulged in innocent pleasures to everlasting punishment, as some ranting evangelists do. "Who made them judges of man's conduct," he said. "Why there is no sin in innocent dancing and a quiet game of cards, unless you inject sin into it yourself. If yo can't dance and play cards without sinning, don't do it, it's a sin for you, but let those who have more control of themselves than you have, judge for themselves what their conduct will be."

Rev. Carden blames the King James version for much of the misconception of the meaning of the word, "Hell." Three different words in Bible are translated by that one word. Sheol in the Old Testament means simply the place of the dead, both good and bad. Hades and Gehenna are only mentioned in the New Testament. Gehenna, the destination of the incorrigibly wicked, is mentioned just eight times in the New Testament and not once by John, Paul or Mark. Obviously much preaching greatly over emphasizes its importance. We forget that judgment can be commendatory as well as condemnatory.

George Eliot Letters Destroyed

LONDON.—Hundreds of interesting letters from George Eliot to her neice, Miss Emily Susannah Clarke, of Thanet, have been destroyed as requested in the will of Miss Clarke, who died recently. A relative who burned the letters said that if given to the world they might have formed a remarkable contribution to literature, in addition to furnishing an intimate autobiography of the author.

The Forum of the Press

Growing Fashions Edict

(Pawhuska Daily Capital)

For the one thousand and second time the fashion dictators have predicted the departure of bobbed hair. This time the much overworked prognostication comes from the French Art League of America.

It was either advertising purposes on an exalted egotism that prompted the league of fashion art to proclaim for the benefit of feminine ears that the coiffeurs for long locks exhibited by the league had sounded the death knell for abbreviated tresses.

This latest prediction does not prove the passing of bobbed hair but it and its innumerable erring predecessors do prove that the fashion dictators no longer hold the fashion situation in the hollow of their hand. In fact, since they no longer dictate, there are no longer dictators of fashion.

In this one respect—that of bobbed hair—womanhood seems to have declared her own emancipation from the slavery of style and vogue. The dictator of fashion may have decreed the shorn-locks fad, but they have failed utterly to halt it. Actually, the more the fixers of fashions talk, scold and fly into a fit over the prevailing feminine aversion to the mere suggestion of reverting to long hair, the more determined the women are to cut their hair shorter. At least the boy-bob is coming more and more into popularity.

The fair ones appear to have fought the style-setters to a decision on the issue of bobbed hair and seemingly only when the ladies can contrive no new ways to bob their hair or to arrange their bobbed hair and after the current trend leaves no further step than the clippers-all-over, will they listen to exhortations of the hair-restorer and false-hair salesmen and to the edicts of the fashion dictators of longer hair.

THE·SECRET·OF·POISE·····FIGURE·GROOMING

THE time has come to face the facts about figures. See the women who have, through going without a corset, allowed their figures to sag and spread. Certainly you do not want this to happen to you. There is only one way to avoid it. Adopt "Figure-Grooming." Wear a Modart Corset.

Modart is an especially light, flexible corset, made from the finest materials, so designed that it not only gives a general slenderizing effect, but actually reduces the figure. It has a closed back because a closed back corset gives the extreme flat hip and back line.

Modart is a front fastening corset which makes it easy to adjust. It gives support where support is needed and by cupping under the body "stays-put" and does not restrict the waist.

In our corset department you will find a Modart to fit every figure and every purse. Lacing and non-lacing models in every material from coutil to beautiful silk brocades. Let one of our corsetieres who understand the art of "Figure-Grooming" choose the one Modart created for you.

Englishmen Think Fondly of Tax Exempt Incomes

LONDON.—Crowds of visitors to the copy of the old Dutch house, which is the pavilion of the Union of South Africa at the Wembley Empire exposition, overlook entirely such wonderful things as gold and diamonds, strange beasts and wild fowl, statues, models, panoramas and pictures when their gaze falls upon a certain placard.

The placard bears this legend: "Income tax, 1,000 pounds a year or less, exempt; over 1000 pounds a year, 1 shilling in the pound.

Some people are said to tear themselves away from this strange legend to go straight to the inquiry office to verify what they feared was an unwarranted assertion, and then to ring up their bankers to ask if there is an adequate balance to purchase a steamship ticket to South Africa.

CHINESE HIGHWAYS NOW HAVE COLORED BILLBOARDS

TECHOW, Shuntang —The billboard has invaded China, along with other western innovations, and is gradually making its appearance far in the interior and off the beaten tracks. Not only is it devoted to the recognized purpose of crying the merits of some article of merchandise, but occasionally it is employed in furthering moral uplift. For instance, in certain districts in the province of Shansi herculean policemen are portrayed on billboards in the act of seizing opium traffickers, apparently in the hope of bringing the lesson within the scope of the dullest intellect, while others show guardians of the law with enormous knives lopping off the heads of offenders.

Only words of praise can be said for bill-boards which herald forth to the Orient the fact that flies are carriers of disease, even though the motive be recommendation of a certain preparation for their extermination. As for the others, colossal roosters or kingfishers proclaim special brands of cigarettes, and giant bunches of raisins miraculous patent medicines. An endless variety of electrical appliances are also advertised, pointing the way to enjoyment, health and comfort.

RIVER BANDIT SPECIALIZES IN WOMEN FOR RANSOM

GALATZ, Rumania.— Operating up and down the Danube river in a powerful motor boat armed with a machine gun, Terenti, the notorious pirate, is still at large despite the united efforts of both Rumanian and Hungarian police to catch him. One of his late adventures was to fight his way through a company of Rumanian soldiers near Braila.

Terenti maes a specialty of captures for ransom, and he prefers to gather in women and children of well-to-do families. He shows consideration to the poor fishermen and farmers along the river, who are friendly to him as a result, and warn him of the activities of the police. He recently found two girls who had been bathing in the river near Galatz and whisked them away in his speedy boat before they could make an outcry.

RINGWOOD.—As soon as it became apparent there was outside demand for the Kieffer pears raised in this vicinity, the local market for the fruit increased and although growers believed they would ship not less than 10 cars from this section, they, so far, have shipped but two. They were sold through the state market commission.

Ada Man May Contribute to Auto Industry

An Ada man may contribute to the needs of the auto industry by his headlight patent recently filed in Washington.

The invention was filed by William N. Derrick, 407 West 17th street. Following is an article carried in the World Progress, a scientist magazine:

The headlight, illustrated by the engraving is the invention of William N. Derrick, 406 West 17th street, Ada, Oklahoma, and forms the subject matter of U. S. patent application Serial No. 697,364. The headlight may be used in connection with the ordinary headlights and is mounted on a machine in such manner that the beam of light will be thrown automatically in the direction in which the car is traveling whether on a straight course or around a curve. The headlight is mounted on a standard, rotatably supported on the mud guard of an automobile, and having its lower end adjustably connected with the steering post of the automobile, whereby the headlight will be turned on the turning of the steering wheel.

OKLAHOMA CITY.—Appeals of six men sentenced to death in the electric chair on pleas of guilty or conviction of murder will be heard by the state criminal court of appeals October 6, according to the clerk of the court. Four of the men are white. They are Cleo Goben, convicted in Commanche county; George Mullens and Estelle Perkins, who pleaded guilty in Carter county; Hoyt Howington, who pleaded guilty in Oklahoma county. Two are negroes; Leroy Scott, who pleaded guilty in Pittsburg county and Elias Ridge, who was adjudged guilty by a jury in Craig county.

Oberhausen, Germany.—The municipal savings bank, acting as a trustee, has secured a one million gold mark credit from America for the local steel industry, it is reported. For the first year of the loan 13 percent interest has been charged, while the rate for the second year will be 7 percent.

TOKIO REBUILDS THEATERS FASTER THAN DWELLINGS

(By the Associated Press)

TOKIO—The city of Tokio today has more theatres and moving picture houses than before the earthquake of September, 1923, when more than 100,000 people perished. There are now 42 first class theaters as compared to 30, and the movie houses have increased in the same proportion. Hotels and restaurants are back almost to their normal number. Seventy percent of the damage done by the earthquake has been repaired.

RED CROSS SHOWS YEAR'S PROGRESS

Activities of Season Recount Much Development of Needed Work

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 — More than 40,000 trained nurses are now enrolled in the nursing service of the American Red Cross, according to the organization's fiscal report for the year ending June 30, made public today .This corps of qualified nurses, the report added, forms a nursing reserve immediately available to the government in time of war, epidemic or disaster.

Expansion of the Red Cross program of supplying nurses to communities having no other public health agencies, the report said, has been carried forward during the year with the placing of more than 1,000 nurses in as many localities. In addition to this number ,five nurses maintained by a fund bequeathed by Miss Jane A. Delano, war-time director of the Red Cross nursing service, are on duty in isolated sections of the country.

First aid work by the organization, the report continued, was expanded in an effort further to reduce the accidental deaths among workers in mines, factories and groups of people everywhere. More than 500,000 railroad employes have been given Red Cross first aid instruction in the last ten years, and "experience shows that the accident rate among industrial workers who have had this instruction is nearly 75 percent less than among the uninstructed."

The number completing first aid courses last year was 10,000 or 4,000 more than the previous year, and demonstrations in first aid were given to approximately 146,000 people. The Red Cross lifesaving corps now counts about 50,000 members, all of whom are well trained and able to rescue and revive a drowning person.

Interest in the course in home hygiene and care of the sick also has greatly increased. The course aims to teach preventive measures; how to keep well; simple nursing methods of caring for the sick in the home, and also to assist in reducing infant mortality by instruction in the care of infants and children.

This year the standard of health was raised in the homes of 135,496 children who were given regular nutrition instruction in the schools .Thirteen thousand mothers attended nutrition classes, 35,500 individuals, mostly settlers on the Jewish agricultural colonies.

home visits were made and consultations held on special dietary needs ,and more than 1,100 schools were assisted in furnishing hot lunches at noon.

The "Fitness for Service" program of the Junior Red Cross links in closely with the health services, as every one of the 5,452,745 school children who hold a junior membership is being taught the importance of proper food and adequate exercise. The slogan "every child a swimmer" has been adopted, and swimming instruction is being carried out enthusiastically in schools everywhere.

Following its custom, the Red Cross will hold the annual roll call this year from Armistic Day to Thanksgiving Day, November 11-27.

JEWS PLANT MILLIONS OF TREES IN PALESTINE

(By the Associated Press)

JERUSALEM, Sept. 20.—The treeless slopes and valleys of Palestine are gradually being reforested, according to an official government statement just issued, which states that nearly 3,000,000 trees and 1,000,000 vines have been planted in the Holy Land between 1920 and 1924, the first four years of the administration of Sir Herbert Samuel as British High Commissioner. Palestine became denuded of its forests owing to Turkish misrule and neglect, says the statement, which resulted in the abrasion of some of the best soil from the hillsides and in the accumulation of malaria swamps in the valleys.

The work of afforestation began 40 years ago when the first Jewish settlements were founded, but received a great impetus after the war when, under the British mandate, greater opportunities for development were opened to Jews. The government department of agriculture planted 1,285,062 trees during the past four years; the Palestine Foundation Fund and the Jewish National Fund, affiliated agencies of the World Zionist Organization, 672,933 trees; the Supreme Moslem Council, 14,700; while the balance were planted by

One of the first trees to be planted in Palestine was the Australian eucalyptus, which is now called by the Arabs the "Jew's Tree." Owing to its great power of absorbing water, the eucalyptus has been very useful in the draining of marshes, thus promoting the health of the country.

IN SOCIETY

MRS. BYRON NORRELL, Editor
Phone 998 between 10 a. m. and 12; 307 between 1 p. m. and 3.

The Just-So-Club members had a delightful afternoon Friday with Mrs. A. C. Chaney on East Main street. Small fines were assessed for breaking certain rules. Quite a bit of fun was created due to some of said members forgetting to remember.

Dainty refreshments were served by hostess.

The club will meet again in two weeks with Mrs. Dallas Allen on Mississippi avenue.

DELPHIAN CLUB

"Medieval Stories and Modern Fiction" is the subject of the sixth year's work for Delphian Chapters. The local club has given seven programs of this course as follows: (1) Ancient Tales of the Egyptians and Greeks," (2) "The Iliad," (3) "The Oydssey" (4 and 5) "Early English Literature: Saxon and Norman Elements" (6) Troubadors and Minnesingers," and (7) "Two Famous Medieval Stories: "The Cid" and "Aucassin and Nicolette".

The last lesson was led by Mrs. J. E. Hickman when text reports were given on "The Cid" by Mrs. R. H. Couch; "The Cid Pawns His Coffers," Mrs. Bullock. "The Cid Ballads," Murray Lucas; "The Chronicle of the Cid" by Mrs. Webster, "Aucassin and Nicolette" Mrs. Lucas, and "Aucassin's Duet" and "The Adventures of the Lover," by Mrs. Delaney.

The study of these medieval stories has created an interest in the history of the early European nations and their languages and social customs. They are both helpful and entertaining.

PRESBYTERIAN LADIES ORGANIZE BIBLE CLASS

On Thursday evening twenty-six of the members of the Golden Rule Bible class of the Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. Paul Norrell for the purpose of completing their organization for the year.

After the election of officers, appointment of committees, and adoption of systematic working plans for the entire class the remainder of the evening was spent in enjoying music furnished by Miss Keller, readings by Miss Paula Waite, games and last, but by no means the least dainty refreshments served by Mrs. Norrell. It was a very pleasant as well as a most profitable evening.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The ladies of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church motored to Ada Tuesday afternoon and were entertained by Mrs. H. P. Butcher.

Mrs. George E. Hutchinson led the devotional hour, after which a duet was rendered by Mrs. H. E. Whitacre and the hostess. The guest list included Mesdames F. R. Blackmar, Forde Harrison, George E. Hutchinson C. P. Schweikhardt, H. E. Whiteacre, E. H. Wininger and daughter, Miss Halys and Mrs. Ed Granger of Ada.

At a late hour the hostess served a delicious ice course to those present after which the Allen contingent wended their way homeward.—Allen Democrat.

MRS. THOMPSON HOSTESS

Mrs. Leland Thompson was hostess to the Wednesday Bridge club in her apartments on South Rennie Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. W. H. Eby, Mrs. C. A. Galbreath, Mrs. W. K. Chaney and Mrs. Jim Evans were guests. Mrs. Emanuel was an additional guest and new member. High score was made by Mrs. Wesley Chaney low score falling to Mrs. Emanuel. A delightful two course luncheon was served.

FORTNIGHTLY SHORT STORY DEPARTMENT WITH MRS.HAGAR

The Short Story Department of the Fortnightly Club held its first meeting of the fall and winter course with Mrs. Harry Hagar, September 24, with Mrs. W. D. Little, leader of the lesson on two stories, "The Signal Man," by Charles Dickens, and "The Jumping Frog," by Mark Twain.

The meeting for October 10, was held with Mrs. H. P. Butcher with Mrs. M. M. Webster leading the lesson on "The Shot," by Pushkin and "The Costly Ride" by Maupassant.

Modern Drama Department

The Dram Department of the Fortnightly Study club met Thursday, October 16 at the home of Mrs. C. Drummond. Mrs. Claude Griffeth led the the study in an inspiring lesson of John Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln." This play deals with the time, beginning when Abraham Lincoln accepted the nomination and closses with the assassination. The negro character shows the author is not American but he does truly give a portrayal of the wonderful character, Abraham Lincoln. How true that:

"Lonely is the man who understands,
Lonely is vision that leds man away
From the pasture lands."
And how comforting to the masses:
"When the high heart we magnify,
And the sure vision celebrate,
And worship greatness passing by,
Ourselves are great."

MANY DELEGATES ATTEND DISTRICT AUXILIARY MEET

The regular quarterly convention of the Fourth District o fthe American Legion Auxiliary, held in Shawnee Monday afternoon, was well attended, about twenty out-of-town delegates being present, the Chandler, Tecumseh, Ada, Wewoka, Bristow and Drumright units being represented.

Mrs. Mabel Graham of Drumright president of the district, presided, and Mrs. Earl Anderson of Drumright, representative of the State Legisiature, a very eloquent speaker, made the principal address of the convention.

Mayor C. C. Hawk off Shawnee welcomed the delegates, his talk being supplemented by J. P. Arnold Shawnee Post commander, who talked on the co-operation whick marks the work of the Legion and the Auxiliary, Vice Commander Charles Elliot also made a brief talk.

Two department offices were present, Mrs. Anna Adams of Chandler, department chaplain, and Mrs. G. C. Wallace of Shawnee, State parliamentarian. Mrs. Wallace is also first vice president of the district. Mrs. A. M. Bailey of Ada, second vice president, was also present.

Pleasing features of the afternoon program were piano solos by Miss Margaret Johnson and Miss Ruth Johnson, and two readings by Mildren Pruitt.

Mrs. Flavel Budd of the Shawnee Auxiliary, was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange for a quartet and float typical of Oklahoma, to take part in the National meeting at Omaha, Neb., next year.

The convention closed with a banquet at the City Cafe when the visitors were the guests of members of the Shawnee unit.—Mrs. G. C. Wallace presided very ably and graciously as toastmaster, and brief impromptu talks were made by Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. W. G. Rippey, president of the Shawnee unit, Miss Anna Budd, secretary, Mrs. Flavel Budd.

INTERESTING MEETING OF FORUM LITERARY SOCIETY

The Forum Literary society met Monday evening, Oct. 13, at 7:30 o'clock. A very large number of enthusiastic members were present, and splendid program was given as follows:

Song, "Juanita."—Assembly.
Scripture reading.—Nolan Hall, chaplain.
Talk.—Mr. Zimmerman.
Talk.—Mr. Floyd.
Vocal solo, "Asleep in the Deep."—Mr. Hendricks, accompanied by Miss Wray.
Reading.—Miss Mary Ellen Hatcher.
Jokes.—Leroy Camden.

After the program, various committees gave reports. The colors, red and black, which were selected by the color committee, were accepted as permanent colors for the assembly by the members.

The motto decided upon for the Forum pins was: "Our best means success."

Home-Coming Day, October 31, has been chosen as "Booster Day," for the Forum. All members will wear caps and sashes of the Forum colors to distinguish them. In the forenoon, some stunts will be put on in assembly, while in the afternoon members will go "en masse" to the football game and advertise both the College and the society by giving another series of clever stunts. In the evening, a masquerade party will be given for members at the home of Miss Ivan McCoy.

FORTNIGHTLY STUDY CLUB MEETING AT COLLEGE

On Tuesday afternoon of this week, October 21, will be held in the Teachers College the General Club meeting for October of the Fortnightly Study Club.

The topic for the afternoon is the Woman Movement, with a review of the story, "This Freedom" by Hutchison, to be followed by a Round Table.

Since this is really Woman's Day, each lady is requested to respond to roll call with a quotation from her favorite woman writer or lecturer of today or a bit of history of any woman of fame of any time.

Discoveries Show Old Romans Were Passably Good Dentists

RICHBOROUGH, Eng.—Archaeologists excavating the mighty foundations of Richborough Castle, the Fort Rutupise of the Romans, in an effort to uncover evidence of the duration of the sojourn of the Romans in Britain, have discovered a delicately fashioned dentists's probe, exactly like that used by present day dental operators.

A British Museum expert who is helping with the excavations declared the old Romans were quite up-to-date in their methods of dentistry, and that evidence had been found that they used gold filling.

RUM RUNNERS AND ALIENS N OVERCROWD BORDER JAILS

(By the Associated Press)

MALONE, N. Y. Oct. 18—The United States government is soon to begin the erection of a large federal prison at Rouses Point on the Canadian border, according to reports circulating through police circles in the North Country.

The prison will be used to house the scores of booze runners, other type of smugglers, and aliens now being arrested in Clinton, Essex, Franklin and St. Lawrence counties and confined in the county jails until their cases are disposed of.

The government is being practically forced to build a prison or detention house on the border because the sheriffs of the counties where the bulk of the arrests are being made have notified federal officials they cannot care for the scores of prisoners sent them, the county jails being full to overflowing.

Recently the situation has become much worse owing to the great number of aliens being seized in the border counties. In the courts it has been disclosed that scores have been brought across the border by liquor runners and others, who drop their charge as soon as the border is passed.

WILL THANK CHICKASAWS FOR WORLD WAR RECORD

Rum Laden Autos Are Forfeit

(By the Associated Press)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 18.—If intoxicating liquors are seized in a motor car, that car is liable to confiscation whether the owner occupies it at the time of the seizure or not, the Alabama supreme court has ruled. It matters not whether the owner of the car is aware of the illicit trade in which the vehicle is engaged, if liquor is found in it, the state law enforcement bodies have the right to confiscate the vehicle, and the owner has no recourse under the law.

Oil News

Apparently the tide in the oil business in this county is beginning to turn. Trades, some of them running into big figures, are talked. Wells are going down with rapidity and outsiders are beginning to drop in and look things over again.

Floyd O. Howarth is having some casing trouble in section 14-4-7 at a depth of 7?? feet. He is carrying 15-inch casing.

The same operator is resuming drilling at Francis in section 19-5-7 and is making hole at 2600 feet

The Pilgrim Petroleum Company is drilling at 1465 feet in section 27-4-6.

The Texas Pacific Oil Company is spudding around 200 feet in section 31-5-6.

Brinson and Doyle are down 355 feet in section 32-5-5, in the Bebee field.

Thompson and Black are straight reaming in section 2-2-5 at 892 feet.

Jack Lloyd got some salt water in a sand at 3050 feet Saturday. He will case it off and drill on down.

Smith and Bowles in section 34-5-7 are waiting for water to spud in on the Ray farm.

C. J. Wrightsman is shut down at 2235 feet in section 24-4-4.

Douglass Oil Company is drilling carrying the 8-inch casing, at 1850 in section 12-5-9.

C. J. Bryan and others are drilling at 850 feet on the Palmer farm in section 18-4-6.

TULSA, Oct — Lifting of its restrictive buying of oil which has been in effect since July 17 was announced by the Prairie Oil & Gas Co. today, retroactive to October 1. The company also announced its willingness to purchase all oil stored during the 75-day period when its plan of paying for 50 per cent of the oil run and storing the remaining 50 per cent for the producers' account was in effect.

The announcement stated that it will also waive whatever storage charges have accumulated during the period which were to be made at the rate of three cents a barrel per month. This waiving applies only to those producers who will sell their stored oil on or before October 31.

The lifting of operation by the Prairie undoubtedly marks the beginning of the movement by other major purchasers. The announcement by the Prairie covers the entire Mid-Continent region.

During the 75-day period that restriction has been imposed on oil runs several million dollars' of the producers' earnings have been tied up through the storage of 50 per cent of their oil production.

The company however warned producers not to accept the new order as meaning that the oil market is greatly improved and urged them not to increase the production until the market does improve. It gives as its reason for the new order the statement that "such action is taken for the purpose of extending to the company's patrons the largest possible measure of financial relief under the present depressing conditions throughout the industry."

American Aviators Arouse Iceland from Aged Slumber

(By the Associated Press)

HOFN HORNAFJORD, Iceland—This little fishing and farming village situated on a point of land jutting out between two shallow fjords that penetrate the south coast of Iceland for nearly 25 miles, awakened recently to find itself "discovered" as the first stopping place in Iceland of the American flyers who finally succeeded in their historic attempt to circle the world by air.

But Hofn Hornafjord had been discovered before. It was near here on August 3, 874 ,that the old viking Ingolfur Arnarson, fleeing from the misrule of the Norse ruler, Harold Haarfager, first sighted the Iceland coast and threw from his galley its high seat pillars that he might build his home where the gods caused them to be washed ashore. Just 1050 years later to a day, Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, commander of the American birdmen ,taxied into the harbor of Hofn Hornafjord and was greeted by the descendants of those sailormen who accompained old Ingolfur on his adventurous quest. One of them, the pilot Bjorn Eymundsson, traces his ancestry from a comrad of Ingolfur, and wears on gala occasions a pin of blue bearing a white gull, the symbol that floated at the masthead of the viking ship.

Located on a narrow neck of land that separates the high mountains of the interior from the sea, the village is primarily a farming community with livestock and dairying its principal activities. On the little farms that dot the mainland and the islands of the fjords, grass is raised for winter food for the cattle and ponies. Vegetables, such as potatoes and other roots that can mature in the brief summer season of warmth, are grown to supplement the food supplies of the inhabitants. In the sheltered valleys that penetrate the glaciers of the interior, heards of reindeer graze during the summer months, moving to the milder climate of the coastline as winter approaches.

Fishing is the great winter industry and in November and December, when heavy storms sweep fleets of fishing vessels harbor in the quiet waters of the fjord and trawl the offlying banks for herrings, cod, and other northern fish. These are smoked or dried and shipped to the continent of Europe, where the Icelandic products are in great demand. One of the principal customers of the Hornafjord fisheries is Portugal, which in return ships wine to the northern island.

In the huge rocks that mark the entrance to Hornafjord, and along the seaward side of the long natural breakwater that guards it from the Atlantic, thousands of eider ducks make their nests, and the inhabitants gain a considerable income through collecting the down with which the ducks line their nests, a product which brings high prices throughout the world. The birds themselves are protected by law, and of recent years have increased considerably in numbers.

College Dramatic Club Presents Two Plays at Francis

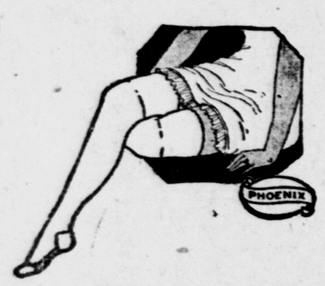

Under supervision of Miss Shaulis, head of the College dramatic department, gave two plays at Francis, "A Woman Won't" and "My Dear." Those participating in the plays were Misses Helen Frossard, Lucile Satterfield, Mary Ruth Brister, and Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson and Messrs Robert Moore and James Waters. A large audience saw the plays and heard the music rendered by Messrs Harvey Faust, Burgess Steed and Oscar Parker, accompanied by Miss Mary Bella Harvey. This same club will present the plays, "On Easy Terms" and "A Woman Won't" at Allen Tuesday night for the benefit of the Allen Boy Scouts and the teachers association.

College Notes

The Okmulgee county teachers met at the College last Thursday evening at 7:30 and enjoyed a social hour followed by a short business session. This county is well organized and at the business meeting Mr. Molloy was elected Adviser, and Mr. Carver, Sergeant at Arms and a membership committee consisting of the following was appointed:

Mr. Pickett, Miss Pickett, Miss Jones, Miss Skidmore, and Mr. Kennedy.

Twenty-three members were present. The organization is a going concern, the bunch is peppy, their spirit is good, they hold a metting every two weeks that is worth while.

SCHOOL NOTES

The Willard School

The teachers of the Willard school reached the end of the first six weeks period, and it is the decision of Mr. Bolton it has been one of the best periods of the school since he has been principal.

Most of the pupils in mathematics in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades are doing much better work in the new books than they did in the old ones.

The book proposition that gave us such a scare at first was handled in such a way by Superintendent Hickman and Mrs. Browall that it did not cause much confusion, and by the way we like the arrangement better than the old way, all the pupils have all their books and are keeping up with them better than they did the old ones.

The orchestra is moving along better, this year than last at the end of the first six weeks, twenty some odd members and all are interested in the work. They have several new pieces and are hoping to make a public appearance soon. Mr. Jones has charge of this department and he feels that he has a winning team.

The English department under the supervision of Miss Violet Moore is doing excellent work this year. All the pupils are well pleased with the change in texts as well as in the different routine of work that they are doing.

Miss Viola West has organized the girls' chorus and has twenty-five members and they are all doing fine work. They made their first appearance in a program that was rendered by the pupils at the school last Friday afternoon.

The art and penmanship work is better this year than last at this time. Miss West is demanding a little more work than she did last year, which is showing up pretty early in the year.

Mrs. Neal has charge of the furth grade and reports fine work being done in that grade this year. In the spelling contest several pupils proved to be good spellers for this grade, Louise Shipman proved to be the best speller and the next in line was Mary I. Bobbitt, Mary Long, Merrelle Allen and Dorothy Mae Mears.

The third grade is doing excellent work under the supervision of Miss Katherine Griffeth, who seems to be well on to the work and the pupils of this grade seem to think that they have the only teacher in the system.

Mrs. Mathis, who has charge of the second grade reports good work being done in that grade, most all the pupils are present all the time which means so much in doing good work as a whole.

The first grade has a new sand table and are working out a project (Hiawatha project) and the table will play an important part in the project.

In the primer class, Pauline Walker, Jula Mae White, and Lillian Sarrett have had perfect lessons all the week. In the first grade, Bailey Bobbitt jr., had perfect reading lessons all this week, and Frances Moore had perfect lessons in numbers all the week.

Twelve boys and 11 girls were neither absent nor tardy from the first grade during the six weeks. Mrs. Bailey Bobbitt has charge of first grade.

The girls' basketball team has been practicing and have played Washington in a practice game and also played Hays and won over both schools in the number of games played, and are ready to play any team in the ward schools.

The boys' football team is also a winner this year, winning every game they have played so far.

The spelling contests that have been put on in the upper grades proved a downfall to the eighth grade and an uplift for the seventh and fifth grades. The sixth grade is warning the winner of the seventh and eighth grades to do some studying before next Friday.

We are sory that we have some pupils out on account of sickness this week, we hope that they will be back in school by next Friday.

The P. T. A. meeting on the third of the month was an interesting one in many ways. A good program was rendered, and an excellent talk by Prof. Nelson of the Teachers College which was enjoyed by the goodly number that was present.

The house was called to order by Mr. Bolton, and the association went into the regular routine of business. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved in the regular order.

The association voted money for a sand table for the first grade which was made last week and is serving a good purpose at present, they also voted a set of readers for the room that had the greatest numbers of mothers present, this fell to the fifth grade.

The school sold ice cream last Friday for the P. T. A. and made them a nice little profit.

The school as a whole wants to thank the board of education and Superintendent Hickman for the basketball and bootball that he presented to the school one day last week.

We urge the parents of our school to visit at any time and see what we just are doing, and if we are not not doing the things we should do, we would be glad for you to tell us.—Committee.

GLENWOOD SCHOOL

We had a very enthusiastic singsong Thursday from 8:30 to 9 o'clock.

We had a specially interesting assembly Thursday of last week. Rev. Blackburn of Ada and Dr. Rice of Tulsa were present. Dr. Rice's address was very much enjoyed by all, as it was both inspiring and humorous.

The upstairs pupils have organized two literary societies. The 5th and 6th grades rendered an interesting program last Friday.

The 7th and 8th will entertain this week-end.

A number of our pupils are still out of school on account of picking cotton. We hope to have them all back soon.

The girls have just received a new basketball and have had two days of practice. Our team will be lighter than usual, but we hope to make it up in teamwork and speed.

Our football team has had unusually good luck this year. We have wone over all the ward teams played so far. We go to Allen this Friday for a game and expect to play Roff next week. With good luck, we hope to come out of both these games victorious. We will be glad to play any ward school team or high school boys who will match their team in weight with us.

The Parent-Teachers association of Glenwood will have a meeting Friday at 2:30. There will be a short program by the children followed by a social meeting.

Ada Hi Literary Activities

The cast of players for "College Thrills", the new drama to be presented to the public November 3, are busy rehearsing under Mr. German, author of the play. The high school orchestra with assistance of some band boys, and other attractive numbers will fill in with delightful entertainment, so as to make an unusually pleasant and profitable evening's program at the Convention Hall. The play, a comedy drama, offers a two-hour program. Mr. German says his cast of characters possess unusual talent and are taking training in a commendable manner. The cast includes: Misses Edna Gray, Dixie Lee Russell, Lucile Webster, Audrey Whitwell, Irene Holmes and Gladys Morris; and Allen Hensley, Raymond Webb, Carl Duncan, Martin Landers, Cecil Myers, Lucey Lambert and others. Miss Thelma Wardlow is assisting as prompter.

The cast enjoyed a weenie roast Friday evening after rehearsal.

The members of the Public Speak-club who have minor characters in this drama, are preparing readings, declamations and debates for other occasions.—Reporter.

FALL MONTHS SEE RUSSIANS ACTIVELY KICKING FOOTBALL

(By the Associated Press)

SOFIA, Bulgaria.—"All Russia is playing football," said Dr. John L. Nuelsen, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, on his arrival here from a tour of Russia, on his way to the United States. "Not only in the large cities are they kicking the pigskin, but I saw them playing football with ardor in some of the smallest villages through which I passed on my tour.

"What is true of football is true also of other forms of outdoor sport in the Soviet republic. In one little village I saw a fine gymnasium, equipped with improved appliances. Young Russia is developing physically."

About Schools

The school is and ought to be a potent factor in moulding public sentiment as well as in building the character and shaping the destiny of those entrusted to it. The school public today has honest criticism to offer upon the methods employed and the results obtained in the present day administration of school affairs. Those directly concerned, feel, to some degree at least, the justice of the criticism and are seeking to remedy the defects. It is patent to all who have given the matter any thought that one outstanding defect appears in emphasizing curricula content to the neglect of the fundamentals in good breeding and character training. It appears now that we are coming to realize that there is no such thing as education without character and all types attributes of it that mark a man or woman as being well bred. The school, therefore, can not shirk its responsibility in this matter, which is fundamental to real education, any more than it can shirk its responsibility in combinating erroneous ideas and conditions that lead to moral degeneracy. Below is given the answer by a prominent educator to this pertinent question: To what extent are the schools responsible for this present wave of immorality and crime

"It cannot be denied very successfully that there is a crime wave, in face of the statistics on crime and the well known fact that the average age of delinqents has dropped nearly two years since the wave began. Today children do as they please in many schools (also in many homes), hence they do as they please after they leave school. They never hear "Thou shalt not" any more in the schools, hence they pay no attention to the "Thou shalt not" of the moral law or the laws of the state after they leave school. To a great extent, the schools have truned away from arithmetic, grammar, spelling and composition and every other irksome task. They are giving the children what they want when they want it and in the manner that most pleases the children. Hence they are not being trained to a task. On graduation from school, they tackle some job, fail, and are discouraged, try other jobs with the same result, and then, knowing the average judge will give them probation, they decide to try a holdup once just for luck. The pedagog or the demagog who insists that is not a true picture of present day results has had his head in the sand. Only a remnant of former school discipline remains. The hard subjects of the curriculum have been crowded out to a great extent by popular modern stuff, and the high school courses are largely elective. Credits are given for almost any old thing. The serious side of life is fast disappearing and an impudent, flippant and sporing spirit has taken the place of a seriously minded working spirit. Many of our teachers and administrative officers are graduates of universities that are hotbeds of transnosticism, where all the Christianity students ever had is sneered out of them by doubting, disbelieving professors."

In an effort to weather the storm the Georgia legislature has passed a special act which requires the teaching of Webster's old blue back spelling book in the public schools. According to the opinion of some, a return to the wholesome memorizing drills of the old spelling book would mean more for education than anything else that could be delivered. However that may be, one thing is evident. "Out of the heart are the issues of life", not out of the head, and the one big problem today for the school, as well as for the home and the church, is to let the pedulum swing back to the fundamentals of living and teach these fundamentals thoroughly and persistently.

TICKET CAMPAIGN FOR LYCEUM ON

Ada Expected to Take Four Hundred Tickets As Share of Expense

The campaign for lyceum ticket sales, which began last Thursday is progressing satisfactorily in so far as the number of tickets sold is concerned But this is not to be taken as evidence that the course is provided for by any means.

Always there are those who stand ready to throw their entire support to a movement of this kind at once, and they are usually the ones to be reported on the first round. After these are in comes the real work of the committee, to put over the balance necessary to make the enterprise go.

The entertainments course this year is an enterprise fostered by the college for the benefit of its students, but extended to the community for the benefit of the town. It is estimated that in such a combination the benefits to the town and the college are equal; i. e., the townspeople will attend in about equal numbers with the college folk. In order to have the course, the college is undertaking more than half of the expense, asking the citizenship for a guarantee of only four hundred season tickets for their part while the college assumes the balance of a two thousand dollar course.

This is a fair proposition to the town. Ada ought to support a course of this kind even alone and, in co-operation with the school, finds the extraordinary good fortune of having such a course at less than half price. The college must provide such a course if it maintains its reputation for culture among patrons and prospective patrons; and this, too, is a matter of interest to the citizenship of Ada. Everything points to the necessity putting this enterprise over and nothing reasonable opposes it.

The campaign of a week ends next Tuesday night and within the next two days the balance of the town's share must be subscribed if the enterprise is to go. Committees from the Lions Club, the Kiwanis Club, the American Legion, and the college, will see you and if, by chance you are overlooked, tickets can be purchased at Hill's Music Store on South Broadway.

The first entertainment is billed for Monday, October 27th. Miss Kathryn Brown, celebrated mezzo-soprano of the Chicago Grand Opera will appear in concert on that date.

Japan Plans World Flight

TOKIO.—Plans for a Japanese round-the-world flight are now in preparation by the Imperial Aviation society and the Government Aviation board. It is proposed to select two civilian aviators for the attempt, and to construct the machine at the Nakajima Areoworks at Nagoya. The start would be made in the spring of 1925. Funds for the attempt may be raised partly by popular subscriptions.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

(By Harry Miller)

Francis scouts had the pleasure of two big programs this week. The first was a nature study program by Prof. M. P. Hatchett of the College. If Ringling Brothers circus can hold the attention of the boys any better than Mr. Hatchett did with his stories about snakes, moths sea horses, octopus and other forms of animal life, they will have to be very interesting indeed. When you can get a bunch of boys to leave a picture show for an exhibition of animals, there is something unusually interesting on hand.

Friday night the Dramatic Art Club of the College under the direction of Miss Shaulis gave two short plays, "A Woman Won't" and "My Dear." Messrs Oscar Parker, Burgess Steed and Harvey Faust also delighted the audience with some very well rendered musical selections. Miss Mary Bella Harvey was their accompanist. The program was well received and the scouts made about $11.35 on the program. The able assistance of Supt. Cunningham and Mr. Caperton and the other teachers is much appreciated. The scout council wishes to thank all the entertainers and also Mr. Deal, Faust and Mackin for the transportation.

Two big meetings this week for boys in Ada. Prof. M. P. Hatchett spoke to 39 boys at Glenwood school Monday evening and to 35 boys at Hayes school Friday evening. His addresses on nature subjects held the boys attention and the boys will surely be much more interested in nature lore in the future.

Troop 9 scouts had one of their largest attended scout meetings for the month, Friday evening. About 22 scouts were out. Games were played and further preparation for the play was made.

Troop 2 scouts will soon buy for themselves a possum dog. This troop attended the address by Prof. Hatchett Friday evening at Hayes school.

Four Lawrence scouts hiked to Ada this week and took in a picture show given by the Liberty theatre to them. Thanks Mr. Cook.

Scouts, now is the time to get off many of your tests. How about that 14-mile hike for some of you and the cooking tests. Fine time to take your eats along and get out into the woods, get some pecans, and persimmons and eat your dinner in the woods.

Then there are a few scouts in Ada who need to get to work on their signalling. Let us help you to do this.

Higher Wages in Hawaii Draw Natives from Luzon

MANILA.—Women have replaced men in many kinds of work in the two Ilocos provinces in northwestern Luzon, according to Director Cruz of the bureau of labor, who has received reports that a large percentage of the laborers in the fields and in the construction of public works are women. Many of the men are leaving those provinces for Hawaii where higher wages are obtainable in the sugar-cane fields, the prevailing wage for farm labor in the Ilocos provinces being only 20 cents a day.

Director Cruz, however, is not in favor of the bill now before the legislature permitting the importation of foreign laborers, because he says there are thousands of Filipinos without work in various parts of the archipelago.

DOCTOR DECLARES DEATHS OF MOTHERS IN BEARING CHILDREN CARELESSNESS IN MANY CASES

KANSAS CITY, Mo., October 17.—"The lives of eighty mothers out of every hundred of those who die in child bearing could be spared," declared Dr. George Clark Mosher here today before the Second Annual meeting of the American Child Health association. Dr. Mosher is professor of obstetrics and head of the obstetric department, School of Medicine, University of Kansas.

"Eighty percent of the tragedy in obstetrics is preventable," he asserted, "and the most important work of the present generation is that of the American Child Health association directed toward preventing such a heavy life toll of mothers and expectant mothers."

"All reform in maternal welfare must come through more thorough education of medical students, doctors, nurses and the laity," Dr. Mosher declared.

He stated that maternity and child health are so closely associated that the one cannot be considered independent of the other, and briefly outlined the co-operative programs being worked out by professional groups and state boards of health through their divisions of maternity and child hygiene.

Following Dr. Mosher's discussion of maternity work other methods of health supervision and education for mothers, babies and younger children were considered by specialists in that field.

"Training for parenthood is as truly vocational as bricklaying or electrical engineering, and much more vital to the commonwealth," was the statement made by Mrs. Mary H. Weeks, chairman of the Children's Bureau of Kansas City.

"Is it not time to create a social consciousness of this fact," asked Mrs. Weeks, "and to create a demand for the public handling of this type of education so that it may be given not alone to the favored unpromising few, but to everyone. Such education is basic and of more vital importance to the community than, let us say, carpentry, mechanics or any academic education now given by public schools."

"Mothers want their children to be not only physically fit, but mentally normal," continued Mrs. Weeks "The two are interdependent, success in physical care of babies often being dependent upon training in right mental habits. Yet even quite intelligent persons often know nothing about the mental processes upon which habits must be based. Child health experts who have been investigating the mental processes and physical growth of children for many years have gone far enough in their research now to interpret their knowledge of the general stages of mental and physical developments in simple language, so that parents can understand what good habits can be established at different stages and by what methods.

If we could get these fundamentals into the minds of all perspective parents, most of the need for disease clinics and clinics for children of abnormal habits would pass, and many home and school problems would be eliminated," concluded Mrs. Weeks.

In the section discussing "Health Education in the Schools" lead by Dr. Thomas D. Wood of Columbia University and third vice-president of the American Child Health Association, the questions of school medical inspections and nursing were featured.

"Why not have accurate bookkeeping in medical school inspection?" was the plea made to educators and doctors in the paper prepared by Dr. Harold H. Mitchell, director of school Hygiene, Fall River Mass.

"We are conducting school medical inspection by a large variety of methods," Dr. Mitchell stated, "yet we have no basis for comparing the efficacy of these procedures, because we have no bookkeeping that permits comparisons. Do we not owe it to the work to organize an accounting system that tests whether one method will bring larger returns than the other?

"Even a few cities might make an agreement to exchange experiences and to attempt similar procedures and thus bring forth proposals for testing the efficiency of many of our mooted methods. Such experimenting would do more good than years of arguments at national conventions."

Dr. Mitchell expressed belief that the educational aspects of the school medical examinations are being neglected. "If we are to make any progress toward an appreciation of value of periodic health examinations," he claimed, "we must make use of this opportunity in the schools for demonstrating to the teacher, the child and the parent. The education aspect must include actual consiedration of the individual child's habits, a thorough examination, and individual advice regarding the child.

"This necessitates two different objectives," he concluded. "First, a rapid examination of school children to discover and urge correction of the grosser physical defects and second, an examination that is designed to be educational to the child, parent and the teacher."

Miss Elmira W. Bears, secretary for school nursing of the American Child Health association said: "The school nurse of tomorrow will spend less time in the school room and more time in the home. As teachers become more interested in and better prepared for health teaching as the class room gives more adequate knowledge of the ways and means for attaining normal development and more instruction in how to maintain it, there will be a corresponding demand from the home for similar knowledge and instruction which the nurse is equipped to meet."

other speakers on the afternoon program were Miss Edna White, director of the Merrill-Palmer school, Detroit, Mich.; Dr. Louise Stanley, chief of the Bureau of Home Economics, United States Department of Agriculture; Dr. Florence L. McKay, Director of Division of Maternity, Infancy and Child Hygiene, New York State Department of Health; Miss Rose Shonka, supervisor of Home Economics, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Dr. Taliaferro Clark, Surgeon, Medical Officer in charge of Field Investigations in Child Hygiene, United States Public Health Service presided at the summary sessions of the afternoon program.

The Second Annual Meeting of the American Child Health Association of which Herbert Hoover is president brought several hundred child health specialists to Kansas City this week. The meeting closed this afternoon with a joint session with the Kansas City Clinical Society. The speakers were: Dr. Fred L. Adair, associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology University of Minnesota Medical School; Dr. Richard M. Smith, assistant professor of child hygiene, Harvard School of Public Health and Dr. LeRoy Hunner, associate professor of clinical gynecology, Johns Hopkins University.

Ypres Soon to Have Chapel to Shelter British Mourners

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON.—Church of England authorities have completed plans for the erection in or near Ypres of a memorial church to be used by the many thousands of persons annually making pilgrimages to the graves of the British dead who fell during the four years fighting in the Ypres salient.

The church will be designed by one of the foremost of British architects, and will be erected in the form of a cross, with belfry, chancel and nave. While it will be primarily for the use of the Church of England, facilities for worship will be afforded communicants of other denominations.

SWEDISH RAILROADS GIVE UP FIRST CLASS PASSENGER CARS

(By the Associated Press)

STOCKHOLM—Railway companies in Sweden have decided to abolish first class travelling accommodations and offer only second and third class to the public. The government owns most of the railroads in Sweden, and as early as 1900 began to eliminate the first class accommodations, as there was very little difference between first and second class arrangements.

Several years ago second and third class sleepers were provided on government lines, and now the few operating private companies have offered similar facilities with the announcement they also are abandoning first class.

the sensational new Gasoline does it!

MOTOPOWER is making good, because it is fulfilling every claim we make for it.

It will cut down your gasoline bill 20%. It will give you twenty percent more mileage on the same gasoline investment—and such smooth, enjoyable miles they will be!

If your car is a bit sluggish, and what car is not, with carbon constantly forming mile after mile; if it has lost a little of the old time "pep" that enabled you to pass them all up on a hill; if the engine seems to overheat on a long run—you'll like MOTOPOWER more for the almost magic effect it has on your engine in addition to its economy.

Just what is this "new fangled" fuel that so many people are finding unqualifiedly successful?

Simply this. MOTOPOWER is 100% volatile gasoline, refined to destroy carbon and prevent it re-forming.

And in destroying the carbon it at once increases "pick up," gives greater power, eliminates knocks in the engine, enables quicker starting and decreases gas consumption.

Prove it for yourself. No attachment, no investment required. Fill your tank with MOTOPOWER and go where you will. In fifty miles your engine will run with a new smoothness, it will have a "pick up" you never suspected existed in the "old boat."

DIFFERENT TYPES OF AUTO DRIVERS

Each Individual Has His Own Ideas of Piloting Cars Through Streets.

(By ERWIN GREER, President Greer College of Automotive Engineering, Chicago.)

There are as many different types of motorcar drivers as there are human beings—there must be since the mind operating the car is human. To point out each individual kind of a driver is certaintly to point directly at you in one or more cases. However, if it tends to make the reader see himself as that kind of a driver and to correct that fault before six feet of earth is piled on top of him, why—the mission of this aricle is accomplished.

A word about the chap who, when he wants to turn right, has somehow always maneuvered to your right and must therefore cross over in front of your car. The same with the left turn. How easy it would be for every one else if he would think a little in advance and get his machine into a position where, if he wished to turn left, he would be in the same left stream of traffic.

Driver With Dented Fenders.

Then the driver with the bent and dented fenders and the battered or missing hub caps. His special joy is to come as close to your carefully groomed car as possible without actually striking it. Often he miscalculates and your machine is shocked into a condition resembling his. You try to collect damages and discover that he owes money on his car and that it already has been attached for damages by some one else.

His brother can slip between a truck and a street car with a diligence and daring that is laudable. But one day the resulting wreck minces several law-abiding motorists.

Or the boy who comes on at a sizzling speed and then—bang!—on goes his brakes. The tires scrape, the car tenses and groans and the brakes shriek—everyone expecting a crash. But, through the fine and lofty purpose of the car's builder, things, somehow, hold together and the accident is averted—that time. But one day this habit of his results in his being removed from the highway—forever.

Hates to Slow Down.

Still another type approaches, gliding at high speed in the grooves of the trolley rails. Because of his smooth approach he hates to slow down, and whiz—over the crossing he swishes, grazing a street car, a truck, several automobiles and half-a-dozen pedestrians. Then he sticks his head out of the side and grins at the consternation he has caused. This very same grin is on his face when, later, he is hurried to the morgue.

WHY DO THEY DO IT?

Oversize Tire Mileage

The custom of using oversize tires is becoming popular, and it may be well to remind car owners making this change that these larger sizes, one inch bigger in wheel diameter and three inches in wheel circumference, make a difference in speedometer registration. The recording instrument will turn up fewer miles with the larger tires than with standard sizes. A 30-inch tire will drop a mile in every 30 traveled or, in other words, will record only 29 miles instead of 30 actually traveled.

Ammonia Is Harmful to Finish of Auto

There used to be a common practice of trying to brighten up the finish of the hood by the use on it of a solution of ammonia. This is about the worst thing that could be done, as ammonia eventually destroys the finish.

Unfortunately, the ammonia gives a little temporary brilliance to the finish, but in the long run it ruins it. In fact, the car manufacturers recommend that no car be kept in a stable or barn, as the ammonia from manure gradually destroys the enameled surface.

Drive Wheels Locked

It sometimes happens that the drive wheels of the car are locked because of breakage in the differential or universals, so that it is impossible even to haul the car home. In these circumstances it is best to remove the keys that hold the rear wheels to the axles. This allows the rear axles to turn freely and the car may be towed in without further difficulty.

Japan to Mark Permanent Air Routes Across Empire

TOKIO.—Aerial routes across Japan, already blazed by American, British and French aviators, are to be permanently established and equipped as trunk air routes, according to plans of the aviation bureau of the Department of Communications. The department's estimates for the 1925-26 budget contain an item of 5,000,000 yen for these routes.

The program outlined by the aviation bureau covers five years, calling for a total expenditure of 21,000,000 yen. The 5,000,000 yen to be asked for the next fiscal year would be spent as follows 500,000 yen for ordinary maintenance of flying fileds, hangars and other equipment on the routes; 3,500,000 yen for the establishment of air current, altitude and other observatories and the establishment of new fields; and the remaining million yen for subsidies to civilian aviation enterprises.

Pleasant Weather Proves Boon for Motorists of Ada

Pleasant weather, termed as an Indian summer, has proved a powerful magnet to motorists, who constantly desert the city streets for rural highways in Pontotoc county and to cities in the immediate district.

While roads are dusty, motorists do not heed this inconvenience when roads are passable and consequently the exodus of the city's motoring populace has been apparent in recent weeks.

Filling station keepers maintain that gasoline sales have shown a steady increase during the past few weeks and the volume of business shows no signs of abating in consequence of the approaching winter months.

The opening of the McKeown bridge on the Canadian has proven the inspiration for many outing trips through that outlet and a steady stream of cars have made their way to that center in recent months.

BOSTONIAN HELPS RESTORE FAMOUS ENGLISH CATHEDRAL

LINCOLN, England. — The fund for the strengthening and repair of Lincoln's glorious thirteenth century Gothic cathedral has been increased by a donation of $25,000 from A. Farwell Bemis, of Boston, who has long been interested in the work which has been going on here for the past several years.

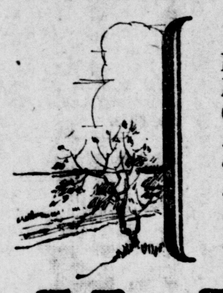

It was discovered ten years ago that Lincoln Cathedral Angel Choir of which Ruskin declared to be as fine a piece of thirteenth century architecture as the world holds, was in danger of collapse. Great rifts and cracks in the towers and walls of the fabric were traced to an unusual phenomenon in England. This was an earthquake back in medieval times, whose ravages on the cathedral structure were not disclosed until a few years ago.

The work of strengthening this medieval fabric is accomplished by pumping liquid cement into the cracks and fissures.

HIRAM PERCY MAXIM, President of the Maxim Silencer Company, says: "The Lanchester Balancer certainly takes out the vibration. It makes the motor smoother than most six and eight-cylinders on the road today."

No Vibration

Ever since automobiles have been built, engineers have been everlastingly striving to conquer engine vibration. Now the new Willys-Knight achieves positive engine smoothness by a device so simple and efficient that all engineers are wondering why it wasn't invented years ago. . . .

The Lanchester Balancer . . . the discovery of Dr. F. W. Lanchester, F. R. S., builder of one of the most expensive motor cars in Great Britain. By securing the United States rights for the use of this remarkable invention, Willys-Knight introduces in America an entirely new conception of enjoyable motoring.

This is still another triumph for a car already famous for its engine. The Willys-Knight sleeve-valve engine actually improves with use. Never needs valve-grinding. Never needs carbon-cleaning. Owners report 50,000 miles and more without an engine adjustment.

Everybody is talking about Willys-Knight's vibrationless performance—and everybody who rides talks of the thrill of it. If only for the sake of a new experience, drive a Willys-Knight over the road today at all speeds.

AUTO INDUSTRY IMPORTANT ONE

Oakland Keeps in Pace With Improvement to Meet Motor Needs

While the basic reason for the early growth of the motor car industry was the need for personal transportation, the fact that the industry has reached such gigantic proportions is due to its capacity for constant improvement of its product to meet the ever-changing needs of transportation.

New ideas, of design and manufacture, are quickly taken up. The industry is not static. It is eagerly open to new suggestions. That is why any motor car five years old looks so antiquated. It is a swift-moving industry.

Thus is that each year, on some make of motor car, appears a new feature or a series of new features that are soon taken up by the whole industry.

During the last year and a half the Oakland Motor Car company, one of the General Motors group, has introduced some of the most important new features of advanced design.

Oakland was the first motor car manufacturer to introduce Duco finish as standard on all its models. This type of finish is undoubtedly one of the most important developments since the beginning of the industry, and scarcely a month passes but an announcement is made that some other motor car company is adopting it as standard on certain or all models.

Though automobile tops are scarcely ever put down, the majority of motor car tops are still of the collapsible type. Oakland was the first to introduce a permanent top.

The real value of the permanent top lies in its rigid construction and the snugness with which the curtains fit against the permanent metal strip on each side.

This construction also enabled Oakland to introduce glass enclosures, an invention which has made closed car comfort to thousands of open car buyers.

The centralizing of all controls on the steering wheel was likewise first introduced by Oakland. This feature adds comfort and safety to driving, as the hands need never leave the wheel, save when shifting gears.

Oakland was the first Light Six to offer as standard equipment the following features:

Four wheel brakes; indirectly lighted unit instrument panel; inter-changeable bronze-backed main bearings; perfected automatic spark control. honed cylinders; adjustable full pressure oil system and oil-tight universal joints.

AUTO PROVING FAVORITE MEANS OF TRAVELING

The worry of train schedules has ceased for the tribes of motorists, who daily find the auto as a more accommodating means of transportation to near and distant cities.

The cosmopolitan urge of many Ada residents has been appropriately answered by the auto and motorists who formerly dreaded rail trips are fast coming to the stage when their objections are being overruled by the auto.

The increasing number of cars in Ada proves conclusively that the auto is being used more and more as a means of transportation to other cities formerly in reaching distance only by train.

The auto transportation problem is being further solved through the extensive good roads projects being fostered in Oklahoma and Texas. Pike highways are proving added inducements to motorists to prefer to travel by cars.

TEN AUTO MODELS OFFERED FOR SALE

Rapid Progress in Motor Car Industry Seen in Sale In Ada

Ada is prepared to meet the rapid progress of automoible transportation for commerce and pleasure.

Every need of motoring can be safely handled by the array of service stations and garages catering to various particulars of motoring.

While the service stations are subsidiary businesses to the sales agencies of automobiles, their growth has been made possible thru recent advent of new auto sales agencies in Ada.

The prospective buyer of a gas buggy need not leave Ada to satisfy his needs or pocketbook. From the Ford to more expensive cars can be purchased through local sales agencies.

The fellow who is hankering for a new auto has a selection list of ten species to pick from. Willys-Knight, Overland, Oakland, Chevrolet, Lincoln, Studebaker, Dodge, Moon and Nash are the models of automobiles on sale here.

The advent of the Moon and Nash cars brings in two of the leading expensive cars for the inspection of prospective buyers. Both cars are practically new on the Ada market, the Moon being first displayed here a few weeks ago by Oscar Gilbert, sales dealer and the Nash by Fred Gay, who is devoting his attention to promoting the Nash.

The Ford and Dodge have been dependables for a number of years, while the Chevrolet has played a large part in the sales here in recent years. The Oakland and Studebaker are additions to the motor sales industry, while the Overland and Willys-Knight have a few years standing in the sales here.

The development of the auto industry is considered still in infancy, the establishment of auto agencies here being an innovation of only a few years back.

With the sales of cars through agencies here, the filling stations, tire repair shops and auto mechanical establishments have sprung up in like rapidity.

Joan looked at him in amazement. At his first words, at his tone, she had felt the shock of anger in her heart gather itself and leap to meet his own. But his rage frightened her, her head ached, and she was sick from the fumes which still penetrated the theater. She tried to answer him, but could not utter a word and broke into tears instead, sobbing in complete nervous abandonment.

Lancaster turned from her with a wry face. "Well, gentlemen," he said, with an affectation of jovialness, "better luck next time. I'm sorry the operation was not successful, but, after all, the patient's life is not the principal thing. The method was correct, you see, but I did not reckon on an incompetent assistant."

"Put the blame on the anesthetic, Doctor Lancaster," said a white-bearded surgeon, with chivalrous intent. "With a nephritis history operation's useless. Better let them die peacefully."

"I did not quite grasp the technical innovation you spoke of, Doctor Lancaster," said another. "To my mind it was the original Leonard operation, except that—"

"Why did you divide the arterial coats below the site of the aneurism?" queried a third.

Lancaster led them from the theater, expostulating and explaining. The dark-haired girl lingered with the sponges. The assistant surgeons had already gone hurriedly out. Joan put her tray away. She still was unable to control her sobs.

Suddenly Lancaster reappeared, furious after the cross-examination to which he had been subjected. He came straight toward Joan with a face of malice. Unconscious of her pitiful aspect as a child might have been, she raised her streaming face and looked at him.

"You had no right to speak to me like that, whatever I did," she said.

"Whatever you did? Whatever you failed to do! What do you think you are here for?" he stormed.

He glared at her, turned away, hesitated, and then came back.

"That's just the way with you women," he cried. "You lost that case for me. And now you are thinking about your dignity. You shouldn't have taken up a nurse's vocation. You women don't know what you can do and what you can't till you find yourselves in a post of responsibility, and then you fall down. What made you take up nursing, anyway? Thought our style of caps becoming, I suppose."

"I've done my best to qualify. I've never been blamed before."

"Well, you've made a big mistake," said Lancaster. "That's all. A—very—big—mistake," he added, emphasizing each word with a nod. "And my work and patients' lives are too important to allow mistakes to happen. You're too pretty to be a nurse, anyway," he added in a lower tone.

"You don't need to tell me that, Doctor Lancaster!" cried Joan furiously.

He made a gesture of mock despair.

"That's right; get on your high horse again!" he said. "Just remember that I'm at the head of the Southern hospital, and what I say goes, that's all."

He swung upon his heel and went out of the room, leaving her gripping the table fiercely in her humiliation. The dark-haired girl, who had been fussing in a corner, came up to her.

"He's a beast!" she exclaimed passionately. "He hates women—decent women. My! if he'd dared to speak that way to me I'd have told him what I thought of him, right in the middle of the operation. I don't care for anybody when my temper's up. I could tell you a few things I've heard about him if I were minded to. Do you know he went on a five years' spree once?"

"I don't care what he did!" cried Joan passionately.

"Well, I guess you could make it your business to know," answered the other. "A girl's got to fight her way, the same as a man. He threw up his job and just went away for five years, drinking and living with tramps, and then had the nerve to come back as if nothing had happened. I got it from a girl that used to be friendly with him. He's—"

She broke off abruptly as the orderly appeared with his rubber broom and bucket.

"What are you going to do about it?" inquired the girl in a low voice. "I reckon you don't want to forfeit your diploma any more than the rest of us. Listen! You go and see him."

"Never!" said Joan.

"Don't be a fool, Miss Wentworth! You go and see him at his house. It's what anyone would do in your place. Fool him by making him think he can do what he likes with you; play with him and hold him off by hook or crook until you're graduated, and then laugh at him. I'd do it if I had to. My! if you heard some of the stories that are going round—"

The head nurse beckoned at the door. "The lady superintendent wants to see you at once, Miss Wentworth," she said. "You're to go right into her office."

She looked at Joan resentfully. Her face was quite composed again, but her eyes were reddened. She knew that Lancaster had been at fault, but she had seen Joan's blunder, too. Miss Symons was one of those women who can acquire the faculty of a man's strength without losing their own sex. She was a tower of strength toward weakness, but she had no pity for a lapse of duty.

Joan walked the dreary length of the corridor to the lady superintendent's room. The white-haired woman was seated at her desk, pretending to be making up her accounts and composing herself for the interview.

"Miss Wentworth!" she began, turning round in her chair as Joan appeared at the door. "You have made Doctor Lancaster very angry. He said you are totally inefficient. What was it that happened this morning?"

"The ether made me faint and I couldn't see the instruments for a moment, and Doctor Lancaster happened to want a scalpel quickly," answered Joan.

"Well, it's a great pity," said the other, "because it was your first day and we had to get somebody to take Miss Martin's place and I selected you because I relied on you particularly. Anyway, you are suspended."

Joan looked at her stupefied. "You mean—that—I am to leave the hospital and lose my diploma?" she asked.

"I don't know yet," answered the lady superintendent evasively. "I suppose Doctor Lancaster will decide that later after he has laid the matter before the board at their next meeting and looked over your record. Anyway, Miss Wentworth, you may as well take a holiday for a week or so until you hear from us."

She turned back to her books while Joan, after looking at her for a moment in silence, turned and went into the corridor. She made her way toward the hospital entrance. And the great wooden arch, through which she had passed hundreds of times without noticing it, suddenly became vivid with detail; the hospital, which had been a part of her unconscious life, looked strange and new to her.

Chapter II

Joan had a room in a nurses' boarding house a few minutes' walk away. She walked mechanically homeward, hardly even yet realizing the magnitude of the blow which had befallen her. Avonmouth lay almost deserted in the noontide glare. The shuttered houses, gay with striped awnings, looked down on the white, dusty streets. The little park that contained the Confederate monument was bright with geraniums, but the grass was parched and withered, and the feeble efforts of an automatic sprinkler seemed almost instantly absorbed by the thirsty ground.

Joan made her way toward an overhanging tree, brushed away a prickly caterpillar from a seat beneath it, and sat down. She was trying to estimate the magnitude of the catastrophe that had happened to her, to free herself from the stupefied wonder and passionate resentment that held her. Two hours before life had seemed reasonably bright; now its entire course was changed. For she did not doubt that the lady superintendent had been trying to soften the news of her dismissal.

Her mind ran back to the beginning of all things for her—her father's death. That had happened ten years before, and the mortgage on the estate, ruined after the war, had grown like a spreading sore, eating away field after field, until it swallowed everything except nine hundred dollars. After the enforced sale, Mrs. Wentworth and her daughter had gone to Avonmouth for the sole reason that the mother remembered a wealthy godmother there, distantly related, whose activities she hoped to enlist on behalf of her daughter. It was characteristic of her that she should not have known the woman had died six years previously.

Still, Avonmouth was the nearest large town in which a girl, flung on the world untrained, might hope to support two people. Joan had long before wanted to be a nurse. She decided to attempt to enter a hospital; but now her mother's slow, mortal illness kept her nursing her at home. Six months after their arrival Mrs. Wentworth died. What remained of their nine hundred dollars after the doctor's and funeral expenses had been paid would suffice for Joan's merest needs until she had graduated from the Southern hospital. But the physician who attended Mrs. Wentworth in her last illness had secured the girl a position as a probationer, and Joan was as happy as she could expect to be. Since that date he had moved away, and Joan was altogether alone.

At home they had known hardly anyone, for the whole region was in that condition of resettlement that began in the seventies and is still proceeding. Their friends had scattered to the north and west; their letters had long since ceased. Prosperity, stalking through the nation, had left a little ridge of poverty between the swaths of its progress through the foothills of the back country. In Avonmouth Mrs. Wentworth's illness, and afterward, the hospital work, had kept the girl both from making friends and from the realization of her need of them. Her whole mind was set upon obtaining that diploma which would mean an assured living, and before her eyes was ever the spectacle of such poverty, as she had known at home among others and had seen approaching her mother. After she graduated, perhaps, life might begin to unfold before her eyes. But even this she realized only vaguely; she lived altogether in the moment.

In the town of forty thousand inhabitants Joan was as isolated as she had been in the latter years at home. Her life was as unsophisticated and as simple, and she was so unacquainted with the conditions and circumstances of existence that her dismissal seemed to her an irreparable disaster. She had won good opinions, she had been praised, and it seemed monstrous that her faintness at a critical moment should have ruined her whole life prospects. What made the tragedy the less tolerable was the admixture of the farcical. There was a simple and absurd explanation. Mrs. Webb's colored cook, Amanda, had quarreled with her mistress that morning, and Joan had had to go to the hospital without her breakfast.

She got up and walked slowly homeward without having resolved her problem. Inside the boarding house the air was like a furnace, and the smell of cooking was triumphant and dominant.

Inside the kitchen, seen through the open door, was Amanda, the cook, and Mrs. Webb, the landlady.

"Here's Amanda again!" Mrs. Webb called to Joan. "My dear, the idea of your running away without your breakfast this morning! Now you sit right down and have your lunch, Miss Wentworth!"

Joan was not hungry, but it was impossible to oppose the resolute insistence of Mrs. Webb, backed by the penitent cook, whose black face, as she flitted from the kitchen to the dining room, radiated remorse and good intentions.

"One can't get along without the proper food at the proper times," said Mrs. Webb as she set down the dishes before Joan. "But I call it real sensible of you to have come home early. Some girls wouldn't have thought of that."

Joan choked suddenly, and Mrs. Webb perceived her distress. She bent over her and placed a kitchen-roughened hand upon her shoulder.

"My dear, what is it? What is the matter? Something gone wrong at that old hospital?" she asked. "Tell me now, honey!"

"It isn't anything, Mrs. Webb," said Joan, striving valiantly to keep back her tears. "Well, then, I'm—I'm discharged."

Mrs. Webb withdrew her hand and placed it upon one hip, bringing the other into corresponding position. She glared at Joan, as the convenient focus of her indignation.

"I never heard of such a thing!" she cried. "Who's dared to discharge you, Miss Wentworth? Why, it was only yesterday Miss Gray was saying you were the only one in the hospital that attended to her work instead of trying to make dates with the doctors! I've had the nurses two years now, Miss Wentworth, and they ain't a snap better than the saleshadies I used to keep. A pack of featherheads! If some of them had been discharged 'twould serve them right. But not you, my dear. It's that old Doctor Lancaster!"

"It was, and I think he was right. I felt faint from the smell of ether—"

"Of course you did!" cried Mrs. Webb. "I always knew the day would come when you would. Those smells make my head go round and round whenever I take the short cut that side of the park. I always said you weren't cut out for that sort of work. It's all right for them strong he-horse girls that's made for it, but what you need is to marry some good man who can take care of you, not to go nursing a lot of dock-hands and seeing people's insides opened up. It's my belief that when the Lord put our insides inside and our outsides outside he meant 'em to stay there," snorted Mrs. Webb.

"Well," said Joan wearily, "it's ended now. And I don't know what I'm going to do."

"But I say it isn't ended!" cried Mrs. Webb, concentrating all her indignation against Lancaster in a venomous glare at Joan. "It's only just begun. If that old Doctor Lancaster dares to discharge you, I'm going to tell everything I know about him, Miss Wentworth, that man's no more fit to be at the head of a hospital, with ladies under him, than he's fit to fly. What is he? Nothing but a fast liver and a common drunkard."

"Never mind, Mrs. Webb!"

"But I do mind. To think of a man like that, who went about with a gang of common tramps for years, Miss Wentworth, just breaking away from his job and hoboing it up and down the country and then coming back and getting his job again and acting as he does! All that I say is common knowledge. Five years after the hospital had seen the last of him in he walks, as bold as brass, and puts the head doctor out, and says the hospital's his and he's going to run it again. And him being in charge of the nurses—him that runs 'round in his auto with every pack of cheap actresses that comes to Avonmouth! I know what they are! I haven't been in the boarding house business twenty years for nothing!"

Mrs. Webb was becoming incoherent. Joan succeeded in stopping the flow of vilification at last, mainly because Mrs. Webb had exhausted it.

"Now I tell you what you are going to do, my dear," she said. "You're going straight to that old Lancaster's house and you are going to ask for your place back. And you're going to get it, too."

BUSBY HOTEL SUED FOR GUEST LOSSES

McALESTER.—That guests who lost their effects in the fire at the Busby Hotel on the night of September 15 last when that hostelry was gutted by a disastrous blaze, intend to hold the hotel company responsible for their losses is indicated in a suit filed in district court this week by Judge Harve L. Melton and Mrs. Melton, who were guests at the hotel that night. In fact they were making their home at the hotel, and lost a considerable amount of household effects.

The claim filed by Mrs. Melton is for $809 and that of Judge Melton for $210. The claim covers baggage effects, household goods, etc., in the hotel at the time, and which, the petition claims, were in the care and keeping of the hotel management, with the tacit contract that they should be protected and safely kept.

The claims further set out that the hotel had been operated in an unsafe manner for some time, so far as dangers from fire were concerned, and after the jury had found him guilty of that the construction of a wooden freight elevator from the basement to the top floors was a hazard for which the management should be held responsible, as it was up this shaft that the fire is alleged to have swept to every floor of the building. The absence of fire-walls, trap doors, etc., it is declared, still further added to the dangers of fire in the dangers of fire in the building.

It is understood that numerous claims are being filed, and that the total will run into thousands of dollars. One room occupied by three traveling men that night, is said to have had baggage and other effects valued at $1,500 in it, all destroyed by the sudden fire.

The filing of formal claims in court will probably bring the question of liability to a head.

OKMULGEE WATER SUPPLY INSPECTED BY ENGINEER

OKMULGEE—R. E. McDonnell of the firm of Burns and McDonnell of Kansas City, Mo., the Donnell of Kansas City, Mo., the firm of consulting engineers which made a survey of the best sources of an adequate supply of city water available to Okmulgee for the city a year ago, arrived here today in response to an invitation from the water committee of the Okmulgee Chamber of Commerce, and held several conferences today with members of the committee relative to the Salt Creek dam project and the Layne Western company's water wells project.

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce will hold a meeting either tonight or Friday night and Mr. McDonnell will be invited to attend the meeting and discuss the various proposed sources of water supply for the city of Okmulgee in detail. Okmulgee geologists, civil engineers, county and city engineers and officials will also be invited to the meeting to discuss the water problem and give their opinions.

In their report on the water survey made a year ago, Burns and McDonnell stated the Salt Creek dam project was not practical, in their opinion, for the reason this possible source of supply was not considered adequate.

The Chamber of Commerce water committee is composed of A. D. Cochran, H. H. Horton and C. H. Kretz.

VIKINGS SKILLED AS NAVIGATORS

Old Roamers of Seas Were Hardy Navigators, U. S. Officers Find

REYKJAVIK, Iceland.—American naval officers who last month visited Iceland in connection with the globe encircling flight of the American aviators, were greatly interested in the navigational methods of the old vikings who, more than 1,000 years ago, sailed their little vessels, without compasses or other instruments, across the storm-beaten north Atlantic to Iceland, Greenland and even the shores of North America.

Even today the charts of these waters are largely based on observations and soundings made by whalers and the early explorers, scores of years ago, and the few large vessels that today visit these seas proceed with the utmost caution. Sailing directions, the "Bible of the Sea," are carefully consulted, and when new soundings are made the results are sent to the different governments for incorporation in the charts. But when Leif Erickson and the other adventurous old Norsemen of more than ten centuries ago set out on their dangerous voyages there were no charts, and the stars were the only directional guides. The observations they made were for centuries the only sailing directions, and were chanted, in the form of sagas, as the galleys swept over the rough seas. Some of the sagas exist today, and old pilots at Keykjavik are familiar with the lore they contain.

One of these, describing the journey from Norway to Greenland, not only takes account of the physical features to be watched for, but advises the navigators to keep on a lookout for the birds and whale that mark the approaches to the Icelandic coast.

A naval officer who made a study of this route found it was almost a perfect great-circle, or shortest sailing route, worked out without any scientific aids by navigators who probably could neither read nor write.

PRINCE OF WALES TO OPEN OLD HIGHWAY

LONDON. — The announcement that the Prince of Wales, upon returning from his American and Canadian trip, will on Nov. 19 formally open the reconstructed road between Dartford and Strood, draws attention to one of the oldest and most celebrated highways in Europe

This patch of road is in reality part of Watling Street, a thoroughfare of great antiquity which will traverse the heart of London and, just back of St. Paul's Cathedral, to this day bears its ancient name. No one knows how old Watling Street is, but it had been long established when the Romans came to Britain two thousand years ago.

The motorist who today comes up to London from Canterbury traverses the same road, the famous Watling Street, which Roman soldiers took when, on conquest bent, they marched through England. Jutish marauders in their day burned and plundered the country-side which it served. Traders from Gaul trudged over its stones long before the medieval age, in fact, the whole panorama of English history would be unrolled if this ancient way could speak.

And this old road which the Prince of Wales will again throw open to the public in November is today what it has ever been, the most convenient route between London and the ports of France.

OUR GLORIA GONE? NOT BY A LONG SHOT SEE 'MANHANDLED'

If you are one of the millions, who have loaned an ear recently to the mysteriously recurrent rumors of Gloria Swanson's demise, we say yea beseeech you to take a trip down to the McSwain theatre this week and see "Manhandled, Gloria's latest production for Paramount. And if after that, you still think Gloria's a dead one then we say that she never was alive.

But we admit ourselves that it is a different Gloria Swanson you see on the screen at the McSwain. That is, different as far as picture characterizations are concerned. She's the liveliest person you ever saw in your life in this Allan Dwan production, an adaptation from Arthur Stringer's Saturday evening Post story by that name.

Here's a picture with a climax as sensational as its title—a story of a salesgirl in a big New York department store, who is out for a good time, willing to receive everything but give nothing in return. She falls in with men who misjudge her—misinterpret her idea of a good time, manhandle her and then—the girl comes around to her right senses with a bang, realizes what, unwittingly, she had almost brought upon herself and goes back to the safe and sane life happy in the love of an honest-to-goodness sweetheart. He may not have jewels and a car to offer her, but she's seen the rest and knows when she's got the best.

Tom Moore is Miss Swanson's leading man in "Manhandled" Others in the cast are Frank Morgan, Ian Keith, Paul McAllister and Lilyan Tashman.

Davenport—As result of 200-barrel well on Sporleder farm, three new outfits preparing to drill.

Berwyn—Local cotton gin, recently destroyed by fire, to be rebuilt at once.

BUYING OF COTTON FROWNED BY ENGLISH

LONDON.—The governments of the cotton growing areas of the British empire, with the aid of the British Bard of Trade, will attempt to pass legislation during the winter months which, it is claimed, will result in more than doubling the cotton production of the empire. Most of the aid will be subsidies to the farmers and the establishment of better transportation conditions.

With this start the government will endeavor to make the empire self-sustaining in the production of cotton. Another factor in the scheme will be a greater control of cotton prices by English growers and buyers, and a sufficient supply of cotton, without foreign buying, to supply the great manufacturies of North England.

To Kenya and Uganda, the largest cotton producing areas at the present time, a loan of more than $17,500,000 will be made to build railroads and clear land for the cotton growers.

Loans will be made also to Nigeria, Tanganyika and North Kavirondo. Plans to double the Australian cotton output are being undertaken and financed by the Australian government.

BUENOS AIRES.—The cost of producing cotton in Argentina is cheaper than in the United States, according to a report on the new cotton growing industry in Argentina by Ernest L. Tutt, the American cotton expert attached to the Argentine ministry of Agriculture. The cost for each pound last year in the United States was 25 cents, compared with about 18 cents in Argentina. The marketing expenses are higher in Argentina but everything considered, Mr. Tutt believes that cotton growing to the individual ought to be more profitable here than in the United States.

College Notes

Okmulgee County Meeting

A meeting of the members of the College who live in Okmulgee county or expect to teach there this year, are asked to meet at the College tonight, Thursday, October 2, at 7:30. A program will be given and business discussed.

Oratorical Contest

In order to encourage students of the college in public speaking, reading and declamation, a contest will be held at the Teachers college during the month of April. Any young man regularly enrolled in the institution as a college student is elegible to enter the contest. The winner of the first place in this contest will receive from the faculty a $15.00 gold medal, the winner of second place, a $10.00 gold medal and the winner of third place a $5. gold medal. The following rules will govern the contest:

1. The contestant must be a young man regularly enrolled in the institution as a college student or as a high school student.

2. The contestant must leave his name together with the title of his selection with Miss Bess Shaulis, instructor in Expression and Dramatic Arts, not later than January, 20, 1924.

3. No selections will require more than 10 minutes to deliver.

4. Each contestant shall appear in a preliminary contest about the 15th of February, at which time members of the faculty acting as judges will select two representatives to appear in the final contest in April.

5. The selection in reading must be one from a standard production by an author of recognized work.

6. Students desiring to enter this contest should signify their intention of doing so as soon as possible, and begin to prepare for it by selecting definite courses in English, Expression, or Reading which will render their possibility of winning the medal more probable. Pronounciation of words, interpretation, voice, stage, presence and delivery will be the important factors kept in mind by the judges in the preliminary and final contests.

Miss Bess Shaulis, instructor in Expression and Dramatic Art, will have general charge of this contest. Contestants should confer with her in regard to the choice of a selection or any other matters pertaining to the contest. She may be found at practically any hour of the day in Room 212, at the left of the stage in the auditorium.

ADA TO HAVE LYCEUM NOTED ARTISTS COMING

Under the leadership of the Teachers College, Ada is to have a high class lyceum. It has been several years since Ada has had this form of educational and recreational endeavor, and the Teachers College feels that it should bring artists of high standing here in order that the students of the Colelge as well as the citizens of Ada may have an opportunity to get high class entertainment at the minimum cost.

There will be six numbers on the Lyceum Course, including some of the best known musical artists in America. The numbers are as follows:

Kathryn Browne of the Chicago Civic Grand Opera, Oct. 27.

Marie Tiffany, Metropolitan Grand Opera Nov. 12.

Cecil Fanning, Baritone soloist Dec. 1.

Caroline Powers Thomas, Violinist, Jan. 27.

Junior-Senior Play, directed by Miss Shaulis Feb. 27.

Sophomore College Play directed by Miss Shaulis May 27.

All of these numbers will be given at the Memorial hall, under the general direction of the College; but the coming of such Artists as Marie Tiffany and Kathryn Browne is so important an event that the College must have the co-operation of all of the civic organizations and the various women's clubs in order to make the lyceum a success. The first four numbers are by high class artists whose coming here entails a very heavy expense, and the College alone cannot finance the undertaking.

It is the suggestion of the lyceum bureau furnishing these artists that none of the tickets be sold for any single one of these attractions for less than one dollar; it is planned, however, to give the citizens of Ada a better rate. This is made possible by the fact that the large enrollment at the College enables the committee to secure a better rate than that mentioned. Accordingly, season tickets admitting to all six of these numbers will be sold at $2.00. This will make each number sell for thirty three cents if a season ticket is purchased. Think of hearing Tiffany or Browne at thirty-three cents! Of course single tickets will have to be sold at a much higher rate.

The Lions Club has already gone on record as favoring this lyceum. Other Clubs will be asked to render their assistance. A town of ten thousand people having an excellent high school and one of the largest teachers colleges in the country needs wholesome entertainment of this kind; and a town having as many music lovers and cultured people as has Ada, will not permit this movement to fail because of lack of support.

The College classes have for several years staged plays which have won the approval of the people of Ada. Their dramatic productions will be better this year than ever. In Miss Shaulis the College has a very competent dramatic instructor, and the fact that she will direct these plays is assurance of the high quality of these entertainments. The course will provide a happy combination of music and dramatics which is certain to appeal to the people of Ada and vicinity.

HATCHER OPPOSES MOVING HOSPITAL

Claims Sulphur Institution Handy for Needs of Disabled Vets

CHICKASHA, Okla., Oct. 2.—The decision of the United States Veterans Bureau to remove all government patients from the Oklahoma tubercular hospital at Sulphur will be vigorously opposed by the Oklahoma department of the American legion, according to James E. Hatcher, state commander.

The nearest hospitals for tubercular former service men will be at Legion, Texas, and Tucson, Arizona, should the Sulphur institution be abandoned by the government, the commander said. Both are too far from Oklahoma, he added.

Removal of patients at Sulphur is in keeping with the bureau's policy to abandon contract hospitals, officials of the district office at Dallas have informed Hatcher.

The executive committee of the Oklahoma legion deplores and "expresses great astonishment and deep regret at the contemplated action of the central office of the bureau" in a resolution after the contemplated move became known. The resolution follows:

Whereas, it has come to the attention of the executive committee of the American legion for the department of Oklahoma, that it is the intention of the central office of the United States Veterans Bureau to remove from the Soldiers Tubercular sanitarium located at Sulphur, a large number of government patients now located there; and

Whereas, said contemplated action is not based on any criticism of the staff, personnel and equipment of said institution and is contrary to the earnest desires of said patients who are most anxious to continue being hospitalized in their home state within ready access of their families and friends; and

Whereas, said removal, if effected, will undoubtedly be injurious to the physical and mental well being of said patients and is not based, according to accurate information and deliberate judgment of this committee, on any principle of sound policy or reason of necessity:

Now therefore be it resolved, by the department committee of the American legion of Oklahoma that we deplore and express our great astonishment and deep regret at the contemplated action of the central office of the Veterans Bureau in seeking to remove said government patients from the Sulphur hospital and that we earnestly urge upon the said central office the immediate abandonment of said proposed removal of said patients. and

Be it further resolved, that the department commander and adjutant be, and they hereby are instructed, to take prompt steps to bring this resolution to the attention of the director of the United States Veterans Bureau, and that they be instructed to take all steps and measures necessary or proper to prevent the removal of said patients from the Sulphur hospital.

CONSTANCE BINNEY AND BIG CAST IN FINE PHOTOPLAY

"Three O'Clock in the Morning," featuring Constance Binney will be the stellar attraction at the American Theatre today. "Three O'Clock in the Morning" is a C. C. Burr production and was made on a lavish scale. Besides Miss Binney in the leading role the cast contains such screen favorites as Edmund Breese, Mary Carr, Edna May Oliver, Richard Thorpe, WilliamBailey, Little Russell Griffin and a host of others.

The story of "Three O'Clock in the Morning' is different from the usual movie story. There are plenty of thrills, dramatic moments and laughter in the photo-play. The story centers around Elizabeth Winthrop, a young girl of good family, who is fond of gay parties and bright lights. Her fiance accompanies her on these all-night parties, not because he is fond of night life, but rather to be near his sweetheart.

At one of the cabarets Elizabeth meets Hugo von Strohm and he invites her to have dinner with him in his apartment the next night. This provokes Clayton Webster, Elizabeth's fiance, and they quarrel. Elizabeth returns her engagement ring to Clayton. After leaving the cabaret Elizabeth and her friends motor to Betty's home for breakfast. It is Sunday morning and Betty's father is angry because she was not home so that she could accompany him to church. Instead of going to church Betty and her friends are making merry in the Winthrop home. While they are in the midst of their hilarity the Winthrops return from church and Mr. Winthrop is shocked at the sight that greets him when he enters his home. He orders Elizabeth to her room and asks her friends to leave immediately. Here follows a scene that is dramatic and full of heart interest.

Betty leaves home. How she meets the dangers that threaten girls alone in a big city and her final decision to return to her parents and sweetheart, is worked out in a splendid manner.

Woman Sought to Encourage Football Team by Cursing Pope

DUBLIN.—In Northern Ireland the rigid fine for the use of party expressions is 40 shillings and costs. Cursing the Pope comes under the head of party expressions.

At Lurgan a woman charged with this offense argued that it was at a football match, and that she thought it the most effective way of encouraging the team she favored. This was received with laughter, but she had to pay the 40 shillings.

'He's Second Walter Johnson,' Says Griff of Young Marberry

CLARK GRIFFITH

By NORMAN E. BROWN

These be joyful days for Clark Griffith, every member of the Washington team and the capital city fans. And there is added joy, as all take stock of the situation generally, in the knowledge that the pitching staff which carried the senators to their first pennant is a young one—and not one at the peak of its strength. Of course, Walter Johnson is beginning to show his years. Seriously speaking, this may have been his last one in the big show. His loss will be a blow to the team. Mogridge is no spring chicken but the others, who have added no mean portion of the victories to the averages are all youngsters, just arriving—Speece, Marberry, Ogden, Zahnizer and Zachary. Joe Martina, a newcomer with the Nats, seems just to have arrived although he is a veteran in service in the game and has spent his years trying to find himself. He can be counted on for three or four big years, most followers of the team believe. One of the most promising of the younger gents is Fred Marberry.

Griffith, who seldom goes in for balcony speeches regarding his players, remarked once this season that Marberry is a "second Walter Johnson."

There have been a lot of "second" Johnsons, Cobbs, Speakers and Sislers who have withered with the prediction. Marberry is made of sterner stuff, Griff believes.

The youngster has the essentials of a great pitcher. He has a rugged physique. He carries himself easily in the box, which favors long years of service. He has all the stuff that a winning pitcher needs. And in addition he has the proper temperament for a hurler.

The real story of Walter Johnson's greatness can never be told because the part his perfect temperament has played in his career cannot be tabulated.

AMERICAN PASSPORTS NOW LURE EUROPE'S THIEVES

(By the Associated Press)

HAMBURG—American passports and foreign passports viseed for the United States are now worth their weight in gold in central Europe, and passport thieves are busy on trains, in hotels and on steamers and wharves.

Scores of stolen passports are reported weekly to American consular officials. It is a frequent occurrence for a foreigner who has obtained a viseed document for America to have his papers stolen before he sails.

Americans are warned by consular officers to keep the numbers of their passports, and make speedy reports of theft to the nearest consul so that the papers may be cancelled from Washington and steps taken to prevent imposters from reaching the United States. Travelers are warned not to leave their passports in their luggage, even if it is locked, and advised to carry them in inside pockets beyond the reach of sneak thieves.

The situation has become particularly bad since the new American immigration law went into effect. There are evidences that organized gangs are dealing in papers supposed to guarantee entrance to America. Forgers can easily change names and photographs and descriptions. While purchasers of altered passports will probably come to grief sooner or later, there are so many persons clamoring for admission to the United States that sharpers find a ready market for their stolen wares.

Geisha Girls Want to Aid Nation's Aviation Program

TOKIO.—Public interest in aviation in Japan, stimulated by the flights of American, British and French aviators to and across Japan during recent months, and also by the army and navy propaganda for larger air forces, is turning into practical contributions to the cause of aviation expansion.

There have been several contributions for this purpose recently, and not long ago 15 geisha girls, living in the fashionable Shimbashi geisha district applied for membership in the Imperial Aviation association, the organization which is fostering civilian support for the army and navy expansion programs. The girls sent a note to the association's headquarters saying they wanted to see aviation in Japan developed enough to make possible a Japanese flight around the world.

EDUCATION SEEKS TO PROTECT EYES

Claimed as Only Means of to Stop Eye Mishaps, Says Eye Epxerts

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The greatest possibilities for the elimination of the unnecessary eye hazards of industrial occupations lie in education, according to the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, which has been studying the question of eye hazards over a period of two years. The committee's labors have extended into practically every industry and every state in the union, and its report is a document of 250 pages. "There should be education of the state as to its moral and economic obligations," the report declares, "education of the employer as to the desirability, from his own point of view, of supplying adequate protection for the eyes of his employes; and education of the employe, particularly the old-fashioned and so-called hardboiled employe, as to the necessity of using that protection when it is provided.

"Some states do not yet require even the reporting of industrial accidents. Others require such reports, but make no effort to set up safety standards of lighting and sanitation codes for the guidance or observance of their industries."

Discussing the necessity for education of the employer, the committee says:

"Many employers of labor still need to be convinced that it is cheaper to prevent eye accidents than to pay for them; that it is false economy to use cheap goggles, or to have a group of workmen share one pair of goggles; that the wearing of goggles or other head protection in dangerous operations should be made an absolute condition of employment. Except in comparatively few cases, the prevention of accidents is considered of secondary importance.

"The result of this situation is that for every plant doing effective safety work a hundred are shirking their responsibility. Indeed few employers are giving as serious attention to accident—their cost, the possibility of preventing them, and the profits which can be made through such preventive work, as to the cost of labor, raw materials, and other items in the manufacturing process."

Developing the idea that it is cheaper to prevent accidents than to pay for them, the committee says:

"The report growing out of the survey of waste in industry, which was conducted by the Federated American Engineering Societies, shows an estimated loss of 158,000,000 days as the result of non-fatal accidents occurring in industry in one year. On the extremely conservative estimate of $1.50 a day as the average compensation paid to workmen for the time lost due to accidents, there is a loss of employers of $237,000,000 a year as the result of non-fatal accidents alone. It is conservatively estimated, also, that eye accidents constitute 10 per cent of all non-fatal industrial accidents. On the basis of these estimates it appears that the loss to industry through eye accidents, is in excess of $23,000,000 yearly. No employer or industrial manager who is aware of these facts will question the assertion that it is cheaper to prevent eye accidents than to pay for them."

In the case of the employe, particularly the older employe, the committee points out that "it is necessary to overcome the resistance against goggle wearing resulting from many years of working without such protection; it is necessary to overcome, in many cases, false pride and the belief that the wearing of goggles is an indication of cowardice or of approaching old age; it is necessary, most of all, to overcome the reluctance to try something new.

Mrs. Warren G. Harding recently received the privilege of having free use of the United States mail.
